Three Drown in Southeast Missouri Over Weekend

Three drownings and three traffic accidents resulting in six injuries were reported over the weekend, by the state highway patrol.

Ricky Arnold Hentz, five, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hentz, Poplar Bluff, drowned yesterday at 1:05 p.m. at the swimming pool at the Hickory House Motel in Poplar Bluff.

The patrol said a brother of the boy saw him in the water and his father, the juvenile officer in Butler County, pulled his son from the water.

Attempts to revive the boy were made by the Poplar Bluff fire department's rescue squad. He was pronounced dead at the Doctor's Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Charles Darmon, 30, Senath, drowned Friday in a bar pit northwest of Senath. The body was recovered by his father Saturday morning and was taken to the McDaniel Funeral Home in Senath.

The body of Marvin Orran

Smith, 66, Hornersville, was found Saturday at 10 a.m. by fishermen. The body was recovered by Sheriff Raymond Scott of Dunklin County. The patrol said Smith had been in the water two or three days.

Smith was taken to the Emerson Funeral Home in Kennett.

At 3:45 p.m. Sunday, five miles west of Fredricktown on route 72, a car driven by Joann Lafatta, 26, St. Louis collided with a car driven by Kenneth Cash, 19, Farmington.

Cash received cuts on his forehead and a passenger in his car, Lenna Cash, 41, Farmington, received cuts on the face and head. Both were taken to the Madison County hospital in Fredricktown.

The patrol said the Lafatta car was making a left turn when Cash came over a hill and collided head on.

At 5 a.m. yesterday, five miles west of Kewanee on route

Injured were two passengers. John King, 33, Lilbourn, cuts and bruises and Lubbo King, 39, Lilbourn, broken jaw. Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Saturday at 1:30 p.m., on highway E, one mile west of Oak Ridge, a car driven by Michael Gene Welker, 18, Millersville, collided with a truck driven by Lynn Roberts, 68, of Oak Ridge.

Welker received leg and possible internal injuries and a passenger in the truck, Rodney Lee Roberts, 6, Oak Ridge, received cuts on the forehead.

Both were taken to the Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Patrol said the truck pulled out of a field road into the path of the car, which was coming over a hill and apparently could not be seen.

Week-Long AP Survey Finds

189 Persons Killed by Gunfire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gunfire killed 189 persons in the United States, a week-long survey by The Associated Press shows, and most of the deaths were homicides. The survey, ended at midnight Sunday, was taken during the same week President Johnson signed an anticrime bill containing gun-control provisions.

The shooting deaths included 109 homicides, 64 suicides and 16 accidents.

In 1966, the last year for which FBI figures are available, there was an average of 125 shooting homicides a week.

Demands for tighter gun-control measures were made after the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—all killed by guns.

Proponents of gun control blame loose traffic in firearms for thousands of deaths each year.

President Johnson signed an omnibus anticrime bill last Wednesday, which contained a gun-control section. More stringent laws on gun control are being considered by Congress.

Two of the provisions in the crime bill:

—Prohibit interstate mail-order sales of handguns and also their over-the-counter sale to nonresidents of a state and to people under 21.

—Make illegal the possession of any firearms by felons, mental incompetents, aliens illegally in the country, Americans who have renounced their citizenship and veterans who receive other than an honorable discharge.

A measure pending before Congress and sponsored by the President would ban mail order sales of all firearms, including rifles and shotguns.

The AP survey, begun midnight Sunday, June 16, showed gunfire in Texas claimed 20 lives, the greatest number of any state, homicides there accounted for 14 deaths, almost double the next highest states—Illinois, 16, California, 13, Michigan and Ohio, 10.

Illinois had the most suicide shootings, 7, and Tennessee and Georgia the greatest number of accidental shooting deaths, 3.

Four homicides occurred Saturday night in Chicago—one of which police commented was

"just one of those circumstances where a gun is too readily available."

Andrew J. Toman, Cook County (Chicago) coroner reported during the week that more persons died in the county from gun wounds during 1967 than died in automobile accidents. He said 607 firearms deaths were reported compared with 591 traffic fatalities.

With the rising public concern over the availability of firearms two of the nation's largest mail order houses announced changes during the week in firearms sale policy.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. banned all purchase of guns through mail and Montgomery Ward and Co. stipulated that all mail orders must be picked up in person, at stores or catalogue order outlets.

Ward's also announced all purchasers of firearms at its downtown Chicago store will be photographed at the time the sale is made. The change in policy came, company officials said, in cooperation with local authorities enforcing a recently passed gun registration ordinance.

Booing Interrupts Huong

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong was booed and hooted for 10 minutes in South Vietnam's lower house today. A source close to the premier said the demonstration was part of an organized right-wing effort to unseat the government.

The House of Representatives, egged on by a bloc of Roman Catholic legislators, erupted after Huong said the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front at one time contained non-Communist nationalist elements. When the uproar died down, Huong said the NLF is now entirely Communist controlled and that non-Communist elements have been liquidated.

"There is a campaign against the government," said a source close to the premier.

He would not specify who is leading the campaign, but there was immediate suspicion of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, a native of North Vietnam who opposed President Nguyen Van Thieu's appointment of Huong to replace Premier Nguyen Van Loc, a Ky man. Ky is also identified with the more militant right-wing segments of Vietnamese political life who oppose any talk of negotiations with the Communists.

Huong and other officials appeared in the lower house to discuss ways of increasing security in and around Saigon.

Huong had begun to talk about nationalist elements who opposed the French in colonial days and opponents of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem who he said had helped form the NLF. "I know they were all nationalists," he said.

Legislators then started booing the 67-year-old premier and banging on their desks to drown him out.

The violence with which the lower house greeted Huong's original remark is indicative of the problem the government would face if it tried conciliation with the Communists.

Candidates for GOP At-Large Seats Deny Switch to Reagan

KANSAS CITY (AP) — One

large seats on the Missouri delegation to the Republican national convention denied Sunday that it planned to switch from Richard Nixon to Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Three of the candidates at a reception in their honor took turns on the rostrum and declared they would support Nixon at the convention until he released them.

They were Lawrence J. Meisel, mayor of Frontenac and state party finance chairman; Mrs. Jewett Fulkerson of Liberty, and Miss Lydia Jane Miller of Kansas City.

The fourth candidate, Dorman Steelman of Salem, state GOP chairman, said by telephone from his home that charges of a switch to Reagan were absurd.

The switch was made Thursday by Robert W. Berrey III, Jackson County magistrate.

Berrey said Jerry Harkins of St. Louis, chairman of the Missouri Goldwater campaign in 1964, now was working for Reagan and would control the Nixon slate if it were elected.

Harkins was present at Sunday's meeting and said the charge was "ludicrous" and "idiotic."

"Don't let there be any doubt in your mind," Harkins said, "that the Missouri delegates for Nixon plan to support him at the convention."

Another slate of candidates for the four seats includes Gene Taylor of Sarcoxie, national committeeman; Mrs. Stanley Ginn of Columbia, national committeewoman; Rep. R. J. "Bus" King of Clayton, minority House leader, and Henry Poindester of Kansas City.

Berrey originally was on the slate but withdrew.

HOW ABOUT YOUR FLAG?
Getting everything ready is a pleasurable part of any Fourth of July celebration. Certainly it should include the flag.

Today is a good time to check on that. We urge that everyone take a look at his own Stars and Stripes in Sunday leisure and then, Tuesday, be sure to fly it high and proud.

Modern conditions change so rapidly that business is always detouring. That's the trouble with business nowadays.

Sentimentalist. In St. Joseph, Mo., a thief broke into the sheriff's office, made off with the cornerstone of the old jail.

A PLATITUDE is a truth so often said that it becomes a bore. Or, to express it in a platitude voiced by Aesop 2,500 years ago, familiarity breeds contempt.

This definition is contained in The Travelers Insurance Companies annual highway accident booklet, which reports 52,200 deaths and 4,200,000 injuries last year. Statistics in the booklet were compiled from reports by state motor vehicle departments.

The fact that we may tire of hearing a truth, however, doesn't lessen its value as a guide to behavior. The Golden Rule is a platitude perhaps "more honored in the breach than the observance" -- but that does not diminish its worth nor its practicality.

There is no fault in the platitude. The fault lies in the attitude, which can be disastrous-- particularly in respect to driving an automobile.

There is nothing wrong with platitudes like: Speed kills... Drive defensively... If you drink, don't drive. They are absolutely right. For everybody. But in the attitude of many of us, they are for somebody else, not us.

We have all observed, at one time or another, those drivers who go along castigating everything but themselves... fools behind other wheels, stupid pedestrians, faulty highways and defective vehicles. This is perhaps only human. It is also irresponsible.

THE QUESTION FOR PARIS

In a speech in Monroe county over the weekend Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton raised a question that must be uppermost in the minds of many Americans. "When is the killing in Vietnam going to end? Mr. Eagleton noted that in the Korean war more than two years elapsed between the start of armistice negotiations and the agreement on a ceasefire, during this period the fighting and killing continued.

Is this pattern to be repeated? Every American hopes the answer is No. More than 24,000 Americans have been killed and 150,000 wounded in Vietnam thus far; the first week in June 438 Americans were killed and 3870 wounded. There were greater casualties among the Vietnamese on both sides. Why must this killing go on while the diplomats talk in Paris?

There are enormously complex questions to be decided, of course, but Mr. Eagleton wonders why these cannot be discussed after an armistice is put into effect. Unlike in Korea, there are few set battle lines in Vietnam, and consequently a cease-fire in Vietnam could be more difficult to achieve than the Korean armistice. But if it should take two years, and if the fighting is as intense as in recent weeks, the United States faces the appalling burden of as many as 450,000 more dead and wounded, not to speak of Vietnamese losses.

We would like to believe that long before this the belligerents will come to their senses and stop the slaughter. Korea does not need to be a precedent. Mr. Eagleton suggests a better precedent may be found in the resolution of the Dutch-Indonesian struggle in the late 1940s. He suggests an international peace-keeping force could help significantly in Vietnam.

Mr. Eagleton, whose discussion of the war in terms such as this strengthens his claim to the Democratic nomination for Senator, rightly declares that if there is to be a cease-fire they must be a will to peace on both sides at Paris. That has not been particularly evident so far and we can only hope that it develops quickly, before more lives are needlessly lost in this Asian struggle.

IT'S TIME TO STAND UP FOR THE UNDERDOG

I have just about reached the end of my tolerance for the way our society at the present time seems to have sympathetic concern only for the misfit, the pervert, the drug addict, the drifter, the ne'er-do-well, the maladjusted, the chronic criminal, the underachiever, the loser--in general the underdog.

I feel it is time for someone like me to stand up and say, "I'm for the upperdog!" I'm also for the achiever--the one who sets out to do something and does it; the one who recognizes the problems and opportunities at hand and endeavors to deal with them; the one who is successful at his immediate task, because he is not worrying about someone else's failings, the one who doesn't consider it "square" to be constantly looking for more to do, who carries the work of his part of the world squarely on his shoulders.

Not the wealthy, necessarily, nor the ones in authority, necessarily; not the gifted, necessarily--just the doer, the achiever--regardless of his status, his opulence, his native endowment.

This is the day when the fashion is to be for the underdog. The attitude is being developed that if you really want people to care for you--and who doesn't?--don't be successful; be a misfit, a loser, a victim of one's environment. This is an occasion to honor the successful.

How horribly wrong it is to level our guns of hostility, envy and ridicule on the successful man who more often than not struggled financially to get a college education, who more often than not works at his job more than 60 hours a week, who buys a comfortable home in the suburbs with the welfare of his family in mind, who is active in his church and community affairs who gives his time to service on boards of education and social-welfare agencies, and in some cases is shortening his life span through overwork and anxiety resulting from the basic social responsibilities he must carry.

These are among the chief doers and achievers of today.

We will never create a good society, much less a great one, until individual excellence and achievement is not only respected but encouraged. That is why I'm for the upperdog--the achiever--the succeder. I'm for building an ever better society, and this will only be done by those who take seriously their responsibility for achievement for making the most of their native ability, for getting done the job at hand.

A workable "creative federalism" process for transportation in the U.S. is necessary, according to Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd. He said without such a process, transportation "will never be a system but an uncoordinated tangle of short-term improvements leading to long-term congestion and failure."

When every motor car operator is licensed and the license can be revoked even though operation of a motor vehicle is necessary to earn a living, it is ridiculous to require less for possession of firearms.

The fact that the United States does not require gun registration testifies to the potency of pressure groups and to the neglect of the public welfare.

There are many, many less urgent laws on the books. But the National Rifle Association operates a potent lobby. So do other gun interests.

The association persists in calling the efforts to control guns childish and nonsensical.

Nobody but Congress has been taken in by such nonsense.

Not only gun registration is a minimum necessity but strict penalties must be imposed for misuse of guns and for all violations of registration.

Congress must pass such legislation. It has too long tampered with the safety of the American people to appease a lobbyist interest.

Only voter pressure will produce passage of such a law. Congress has long demonstrated its reluctance to act.

Law enforcement officers for many years have sought a gun control law.

One by one the nation's leaders are being cut down by gunfire.

It's time that Congress acts.

Other gun proposals do not give the American people and their leaders sufficient protection.

There's something to be said for less than instantaneous communication.

Take the case of Sen. J. William Fulbright who right now must be looking rather fondly on the days when news dispatches from Washington were disseminated to the rest of the nation at stagecoach speed.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and leading critic of the Vietnam war, congratulated the President immediately after his speech in which he announced a limitation of the bombing of North Vietnam.

The next day, when it became evident that the limitation was not as complete as everyone thought, Fulbright was one of the first to hop on the President and decried his move as "of no consequence." News services carried his flat prediction that it would not lead to peace talks.

Two days after that, of course, Hanoi did respond favorably and Fulbright was forced to admit he had spoken too soon, as he manfully addressed himself to a generous serving of crow.

Perhaps there is a lesson for all of us in what the senator's wife told him "You talk too much." Perhaps all of us ought to button up our opinions for the duration of the current period of uncertainty, responding neither with

—POULTRY INSPECTION—
On February 6, 1968, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson called attention to the need for poultry inspection. They quoted from a hitherto unpublished report by the agriculture department on the deplorable conditions in intrastate poultry plants. This started a drive in Congress for a new poultry inspection bill.

On June 13, the House of Representatives passed a poultry inspection bill. It still has to pass the Senate.

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Those who boo Hubert Humphrey have short memories; 20 years ago he fought for their civil rights; Thanks to HHH 200,000 more Negroes will work this year.

WASHINGTON—Most significant and ironic twist to the solidarity march before the Lincoln Memorial last week took place when Vice President Humphrey was introduced.

Approximately 50,000 people were spread out in the park or around the reflecting pool, stretching out like an army of the Philistines as far as the eye could see. In the crowd were Negroes and whites some of them poor, many not poor who had come to the capital in sympathy with the poor people's

As Vice President Humphrey was introduced to that vast crowd there were boos.

Those who booed did not remember another occasion exactly 20 years ago, almost to the month, when the same Hubert Humphrey was also booed. The occasion was the Democratic National convention in Philadelphia in July, 1948.

The crowd was smaller than that in Washington last week only because 50,000 people could not get into the Convention hall.

And Hubert Humphrey was not as well known as he is today. He was a relatively obscure mayor of a medium-sized city—Minneapolis. Despite his obscurity, however, he got up in the platform committee, and later on the floor of the convention, and demanded that the democratic party adopt an unequivocal plank endorsing civil rights.

Probably no move since the days of slavery was so bitterly received as Humphrey's motion, nor so savagely debated. In the end the east, west and north unrealistic enthusiasm nor unwarranted pessimism in reaction to the ups and downs, advances and retreats that almost certainly will accompany the diplomatic maneuverings now under way.

Scotchman: "That would spoil the picture for certain. That would tilt me kilt."

How about the Eskimo girl who married a tall English Lord. She loved those long knights.

NICE, BUT NOT LIKE MOTHER
A sociologist at the University of Chicago suggests that men who ride airliners might be happier if stewardesses were symbols of motherhood instead of being... well, as they are.

As you may have already guessed, this sociologist is not a man. She is Dr. Alice S. Rossi, a director of a newly-formed group called the National Organization of Women. (It has called stewardesses "airborne bunnies.")

Airlines, Dr. Rossi avers, assume that men prefer stewardesses who make it possible for them to "indulge their fantasies."

She further avers that these men might be more secure if they were served by motherly women.

With no desire to dispute a lady certainly not a lady sociologist -- it must nevertheless be stated in the interest of factual reporting that there doesn't seem to be overwhelming evidence that male passengers attended by unmotherly young stewardesses are desperately homesick for their mothers.

These men may, of course, be able to repress such maternity yearnings by reminding themselves that if they do feel the need to be more secure, they can always fasten their seatbelts--P.J.

Orville Fenderlob was telling his buddy that he recently met a girl that didn't know the difference between a Caesar salad and sexual intercourse.

"Did you explain it to her?" he asked.

"Hell no," said Orville. "But I have lunch with her every day."

PERFECT DIET

"How did your wife get on with her slimming diet?"

"Fine -- she disappeared completely last week!"

NAM ENDORSES AIR QUALITY COMMISSIONS

The National Association of Manufacturers recently endorsed before Congress a regional approach to air pollution control problems.

In testimony before the Senate Public Works Subcommittee on Air and Water Pollution on the Air Quality Act of 1967, Robert S. Cramer staff specialist, air and water conservation, Standard Oil Company of California, said that has been done very quietly. For instance, he has fought with the building trades until they became thoroughly irritated, in order to get job opportunities for Negroes. He has badgered C. J. Haggerty, head of the building trades, until Haggerty almost considers the vice president a pain in the neck. He has also badgered West Point, Annapolis and the air force academy to get young Negroes appointed. And inside the budget bureau, he has battled to keep the antipovetry program from being gutted. These are things that don't get into the papers.

He also got 55,000 young Negro boys from the ghettos into the Boy Scouts.

—JUST A BEGINNING—
"We can do all this one hundredfold," Humphrey told his staff. "We've just got started. It's not what we've done, but what we're going to do that counts."

Also unknown to the crowd which booed the vice president was the way he got his Minnesota friend, Sen. Walter Mondale, to introduce a new civil rights bill containing an open housing section. And when the Senate Banking and Currency Committee dragged its feet, the vice president went to his old friend, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, chairman, and persuaded him to hold hearings. Sparkman was reluctant. It was no help to him with Alabama voters. But he bowed to his old friend, the vice president, and put the bill through his committee. It resulted in the most important civil rights legislation in recent years.

These are some of the things that the crowd at the Lincoln Memorial either forgot or didn't know.

—MOUNTAIN CLIMBER DOUGLAS—

Justice William O. Douglas, 69 years old and appointed to the Supreme Court 29 years ago at the age of 41, now has a "pacemaker" in his chest to insure a regular heart beat.

When his friend Joel Fisher sent him flowers, Justice Douglas wrote a thank-you saying, among other things that he and his wife Cathy were off to Washington state. He added this postscript: "How about climbing Mt. Ranier with us this summer?"

when such regions cross state boundaries, NAM favors using existing interstate compact procedures. "If, however such compacts cannot be reached by the states, we favor the creation of regional air quality commissions" of the type proposed by Public Works Committee Chairman Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.), he said.

Mr. Cramer also supported Senator Randolph's proposal for the establishment of regional air quality standards. Such an approach, he said, allows the people of each region to decide the air standards which will best meet their health, recreational and economic needs.

Nation-wide industry emission standards would not permit such flexibility, he noted. "In our view, the purpose of emission standards is to insure that previously determined air quality standards are met" Mr. Cramer said.

Rockefeller Calls For Understanding Of Changes Sweeping Modern World

Few men stir as much controversy, or develop as much political antagonism, or are as heavily surrounded by devoted men, or speak out as frankly as does Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller.

Regardless of his political future, his point of view is vital to his political enemies as well as to his many enthusiasts.

The other day I asked Mr. Rockefeller just what he believed was the basic issue of the moment. His reply was--and is--this country's ability to change.

Here are his views, as he wrote them, especially for this column.

By Nelson Rockefeller Governor of the State of New York

ALBANY--On a recent visit to a museum, the display that impressed my young son Nelson most was a reconstructed dinosaur. Somehow he could not understand how such huge, strong creatures could have died out, and he wanted to know why. I wondered how to explain extinction to a four-year-old. Finally, I just said, "He couldn't learn to change."

Today, change sweeps our world at a headlong, ever-quickenning pace. The divisions and doubts within our country are the price we are paying for failing to adapt quickly enough to change.

Our responses, lagging behind the furious pace of events, are all too often irrelevant to our actual problems. We appear thrown off balance by the very thrust of change--too often making decisions while reeling, jumping in here, pulling back there, and making commitments everywhere.

Whether it is Vietnam, the decline of the dollar, decay of the cities or riots in the streets, we seem to have lost much of our sense of purposeful destiny.

We are powerful, yet often appear powerless. As a result, our national mood is uncertainty, darkened with frustration, and many of us feel a loss of confidence in ourselves and in our institutions.

This need not be. We need not lose faith in ourselves and in our system of government. What we need is to understand more clearly the forces of change in the world and learn to master them, rather than let them master us.

By understanding change we can comprehend, for example, the direct link between seemingly separate developments such as riots in our cities and the industrialization of Southern agriculture.

Let's trace that connection. Industrialization displaces the Southern farm laborer and his family, generally Negroes. They move north to the city with hopes for a new life. Instead they encounter a shrinking labor market for the unskilled and an increasing demand for job qualifications. Lacking income, the family turns to welfare, understanding caused in great part by our slowness to sense the speed and magnitude of change in the modern world.

We should not fear change. Rather, we should shape it, direct it, and lead it. Then, we can lead not only America but the world toward the greatest period of peace and progress in the history of mankind.

On the international scene, our failure to adopt to change has led to foreign policies that satisfy neither ourselves nor our allies. Vietnam is the most recent and painful example.

We have been a fortunate nation and a people of good will. As a consequence, we somehow tend to assume that the problems of change will work themselves out. We generally see ourselves like a sturdy ship on a rough sea--sure to right itself and ride out any storm.

But we have learned from harsh experience that our society will not straighten out by itself. We are going to have to work hard--and think hard--to get America back on course.

Mrs. Ricky Lee Bunting

Mary Margaret Miller Says Vows With Ricky L. Bunting

CHAFFEE — Miss Mary Margaret Miller became the bride of Ricky Lee Bunting last at 7:30 p.m. June 15 at First Baptist church. Miss Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Miller of Chaffee and Bunting is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bunting, Lilbourn.

The Rev. R. L. Robinson performed the double ring ceremony before a setting of twin candelabra and baskets of peach and white floral arrangements. Miss Lynn Ransdell of Oran was the organist with Miss Judy Pobst of Chaffee as soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of peau de soie with a bateau neckline. A short lace bolero featuring long lace bell sleeves was worn over the bodice. The full-length straight train of peau de soie overlaid with lace was attached to the shoulders of the gown. The gown was designed and made by the bride's mother. An elbow-length veil of hand-rolled silk illusion was held to a stain covered pillbox hat accented with seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was white carnations centered with white roses from which she presented one to her mother as she approached the altar and one to the groom's mother following the ceremony.

Miss Rhonda Jean Miller served her sister as maid of honor with sister Gayle Denise Miller as junior bridesmaid. Miss Marilyn Bunting, sister of the groom, Miss Sandra Ward of Poplar Bluff and Miss Ruth Ellen Huey of Chaffee were bridesmaids. They were dressed in formal empire style gowns of peach colored satin accented with dark orange velvet bands at the waistlines. The bands came to bows and streamers in the center front of the skirt.

They each carried long stem roses with white streamers. Their nosegay veils of nylon tulle was attached to circlets of roses.

Patty Brannum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brannum of Lilbourn, was flower girl and Ricky Wilkerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilkerson of Poplar Bluff, was ring bearer. The flower girl was dressed identically to the attendants her gown featured elbow-length bell sleeves. She carried a basket of peach roses and buds.

The groom chose his brother, John Bunting, Lilbourn, as best man. Groomsmen were Jerry and Mike McGhee and Jimmy Smelser, all of Lilbourn. Serving as ushers were Larry Cross of Poplar Bluff and Steve Wunderlich of Cape Girardeau. A reception was held in the church basement. The bride's table was covered with white and overlaid with peach net. In the center of the table was the wedding cake in the form of a large cross lying flat and centered with a square layer holding a miniature bride and groom. Twin three branched candelabra graced each side of the cake with the crystal punch bowl at one end of the table. Miss Janice Cauldwell of Benton, Miss Libby Norton of Lilbourn and Miss Linda Cunningham of Chaffee served. Miss Sandra Allen of Poplar Bluff and Miss Pam Miller of Chicago, Ill., were in charge of the guest books.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Chaffee high school and is enrolled as a junior at Arkansas State University.

Bunting is a 1965 graduate of Risco high school and is a senior at Arkansas State.

Following the reception the couple left for Chicago where they will be employed during the summer.

The Conservation Commission has approved a reorganization of the department's protection section—the corps of conservation agents—creating a new level of administrative authority.

Each of the nine protection regions of the state (northwest, north central, etc.) will be divided into three districts, each with its own supervisor selected from the ranks of agents in the district. Each district will include from three to six counties. District supervisors will be directly responsible to regional supervisors.

New district supervisors approved by the Commission are Chester Barnes of Poplar Bluff, Doyle Beck of Potosi, Les Brown of Steelville, Jesse Flossing of Liberty, John Frye of Cassville, Coval Gann of Chillicothe, Roy Harman of Hermitage, Earl Kinder of Van Buren, Robert King of Troy, Ben Krider of Jefferson City, Glen McCloud of Gallatin, Donald J. May of Dexter, Art Province of Charleston, Ronald Roellig of Houston, Carl Rude of Trenton, Robley Sanders of Lebanon, Fred Shaw of St. Charles, William Stuesse of Booneville, Oadis Swigart of Savannah, Chester Vermaas of Sedalia, Quentin Walsh of Eldorado Springs, Robert Walsh of Cape Fair, Edgar Webb of Camdenton, Harold White of Hannibal, Clyde Wilson of Fulton, William Hailey of Gainesville and Foin Morrison of Marshfield.

The Missouri Conservation Commission has urged the state's congressional delegation to use extreme caution in considering antitrust legislation.

In a telegram to Missouri's United States senators and representatives, the Commission urged legislators to "proceed with deliberate care" in the matter "particularly in times of emotional reaction and frustration with social patterns."

The wire was sent during a regular meeting of the Commission here June 20. The full text of the telegram follows:

"The Missouri Conservation Commission urges all legislative and rule or policy making bodies to proceed with deliberate care when considering gun legislation and gun regulations, particularly in times of emotional reaction and frustration with social patterns. 'Carefully developed gun legislation may serve beneficial purposes, but it won't be good legislation if it doesn't give well-reasoned consideration to the millions of Americans who have legitimate reasons for owning firearms for hunting or for other socially beneficial purposes. Gun regulations springing primarily as an emotional vent to frustration with broad social problems may lead to little more than the creation of an additional set of problems and a new set of frustrations.

"We urge that when any gun legislation is drafted there be due regard to the socially justifiable aspects of gun ownership."

"Entire natural resource conservation programs and the principal outdoor recreation of a large segment of our population are closely tied to the ownership and use of guns. The needs and the wishes of the many millions of Americans who regularly use guns legitimately and properly for beneficial purposes should not be lost in a single minded effort to control the relatively few who misuse guns. Gun legislation is a matter for careful, cool, deliberate consideration of a kind which is in keeping with the needs to solve the complex and trying problems of our society which have been brought into dramatic focus by recent tragic events."

The nation's most outstanding sports shooters move into San Antonio, Texas, at the end of June to compete for national honors in the U.S. International Shooting Championships and to strive for a position on the U.S. Olympic Shooting Team.

Included in the field of 400 rifle, shotgun, and pistol competitors will be three former Olympic gold medalists.

Capt. Lones Wigger, Great Falls, Montana, of the U.S. Army, and Gary Anderson, San Anselmo, California, two of the nation's best known riflemen, will be contestants. Wigger, a former national Smallbore Rifle champion, set a world record in the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo when he captured the three-position Smallbore Rifle title with a fantastic score of 1164 points out of 1200.

Anderson, since he zoomed into prominence with a record-shattering gold medal winning performance in the World Shooting Championships in Cairo in 1962, has collected nearly two dozen first-place awards in individual and team competitions at International Matches.

In 1964 he took the gold medal in Tokyo with a record score of 1153 points out of 1200 in the 300-meter three-position, Free Rifle match.

Major William McMillan, San Diego, Calif., a Marine Corps Officer, is the only American to take the gold medal in the Rapid Fire Pistol competition.

McMillan brought the U.S. its victory in the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome, Italy, with a score of 587 points out of 600, which tied the world score at that time.

The U.S. International Shooting Championships will consist of 11 events. Seven of these will be the Final Tryouts for the U.S. Olympic Team. The U.S. Team will consist of four pistol shooters, four riflemen, and four shotgun competitors. The seven matches that will determine the U.S. Team are 300 birds in Skeet; the 60-shot course with the Free Pistol; three days of competition in the three-position Smallbore Rifle; three courses of fire with the Rapid Fire Pistol; 300 birds of Clay Pigeon (trap shooting); and the Free Rifle, which will last three days.

The other matches that will fill out the U.S. International Shooting Championships program are Running Boar, Air Rifle, Standard Pistol and Center Fire Pistol.

The Standard Pistol and Air Rifle matches are new editions to the annual program.

The U.S. International Championships, which are sponsored by the National Rifle Association, will be co-hosted by Lackland AFB and the Texas International Gun Club.

The Texas club will conduct the two Olympic shotgun events and the other matches will be at Lackland.

Running Boar kicks off the month of shooting on June 26 and the competitions end on July 19 with the last day of firing in Standard Pistol, Center Fire Pistol, and Free Rifle.

The Skeet dates are July 5-7; Air Rifle, July 8-11; Free Pistol, July 9-11; Smallbore Rifle, July 9-11; Clay Pigeon, July 12-14; Three-position Smallbore Rifle, July 12-14; and Rapid Fire Pistol, July 13-15.

Officials for the 1968 U.S. Olympic Shooting Team are Harry Reeves, Andrews North Carolina, Team Captain, and Jim Crossman, Alexandria, Virginia, Team Adjutant.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The National League-leading St. Louis Cardinals managed only a split of their Sunday doubleheader with the Atlanta Braves, but held a 6 1/2-game edge over second place San Francisco and 7 1/2 games over the third-place Braves.

The Redbirds lost the opener 5-1. Reliever Cecil Upshaw took over for starter Dick Kelley in the second inning and blanked the Cardinals on two hits the rest of the way.

Second-string catcher John Edwards drove in all the runs in the nightcap as the Cards won 3-1.

Edwards lashed a bases-loaded single in the first inning to give St. Louis a 2-0 lead and tripled in the third inning to score Roger Maris, who had singled with one out.

That was all the runs Mel Nelson needed. Nelson, a left-hander, fired a six-hitter and was touched for one unearned run in the fifth inning as he posted his first major league victory since 1963.

Upshaw (4-4) entered the first game after Orlando Cepeda whacked his 10th homer of the season in the second inning off Kelley. Upshaw worked out of a two on and one out situation in the inning and breezed the rest of the way. The Braves victory ended a seven-game Redbird victory string.

Atlanta slapped starter Nelson Briles (8-6) from the mound with four runs in the first inning. Tito Francona and Henry Aaron each drove in a run during the inning and St. Louis contributed two errors to allow the other runs to score.

The Braves added another run off reliever Pete Mikkelsen in the seventh on two more errors and Francona's second hit of the game.

The Cards had knocked Atlanta into third place

Saturday with a 6-1 victory as Tim McCarver and Cepeda each drove in three runs with a homer and a single.

The weekend work gave the Cards a total of 10 victories in 12 meetings this year with Atlanta.

Steve Carlton (8-2) opens a three-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates tonight as he goes against Bob Veale (4-7).

Willie McCovey is a firm believer in that maxim: Out of sight, out of mind. And he's getting his message across to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

McCovey unloaded a pair of tape measure home runs Sunday, giving Juan Marichal and the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over Pittsburgh...

...and driving the Pirates up the walls of cavernous Forbes Field.

"I don't get any thrill out of hitting the ball real far...I just want it to go out of the park," said the slugging first baseman, who has hit seven of his National League leading 18 homers in the Giants' last seven games against the Pirates.

Marichal's 14th victory—tops in the majors—enabled the second-place Giants to trim one-half game off St. Louis.

Cincinnati swept a twin bill from the Chicago Cubs 9-8 and 4-3, the nightcap going 11 innings, while the New York Mets edged Los Angeles 5-4 and Houston tripped Philadelphia 7-4 in other single games.

In American League action Detroit bowed to Cleveland 3-0 before beating the Indians 4-1 for a doubleheader split the Chicago White Sox drubbed Boston 10-1 after a 6-2 first game loss to the Red Sox.

Minnesota downed the New York Yankees 6-3, Oakland blasted Washington 9-0 and California nipped Baltimore 3-2.

McCovey took exception to his own rule in the first inning at Pittsburgh when the first of his two homers off Jim Bunning sailed onto the 86-foot high roof of the double deck right field Stands. "I watched it all the against the Dodgers. Rookie Nolan Ryan, staked to a 5-0 lead, was knocked out in the eighth inning but picked up his eighth victory in 11 decisions.

Reliever Fred Genny rescued left-hander Dennis Lemaster from a ninth inning jam to nail Houston's victory over the Phillies. Denis Menke scored two runs and drove in two more and Dick Simpson homered for the Astros.

Helms of a single but sent Tony Perez home with the winning run.

With one out and the bases loaded, Helms' blooper fell in front of right fielder Al Spangler, who recovered the ball and forced Lee May at second as Perez trotted across the plate.

May had driven in the Reds' first three runs with a homer and single.

Don Pavletich's two-run double climaxed a three-run ninth inning rally that carried Cincinnati from behind the first game.

The Mets again climbed within one victory of the elusive .500 mark as Cleon Jones smacked a three-run homer and doubled home another run.

Picture Day

Little League team picture day has been announced by Commissioner Don Miller for Saturday.

All teams of the National, American and Musial leagues are to be present at 2 p.m. in uniform.

In case of rain, pictures will be taken the following Saturday.

Lonborg's Comeback

BOSTON AP—Jim Lonborg's hopes for a pitching comeback with the Boston Red Sox were a bit dimmer today as he prepared to undergo X-rays of his sore right shoulder.

The 1967 Cy Young award winner threw five bad pitches—all balls—to lead off Sunday's second game against the Chicago White Sox, hitting two batters, before leaving the mound.

Lonborg complained of pain in the shoulder and the Red Sox decided to send him home for the X-rays.

Ramos 4-1 Underdog

NEW YORK (AP)—Manuel Ramos, a 4-1 underdog, is expected to shoot the works early in a desperate attempt to dethrone five-state heavyweight champion Joe Frazier in a 15-round title fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

"It only takes one punch to turn a fight around," said Gil Clancy. "Ramos can punch pretty good but he better get Frazier quick because the champ keeps coming at you. If Ramos can nail him everyone may be in for a surprise."

Clancy, co-manager and trainer of former middleweight champion Emile Griffith, worked with the tall, 24-year-old Mexican champion for a week. He will be in his corner tonight.

The general opinion of the experts was that the 6-foot-3 Ramos' only chance to win was to get in the big bomb quickly. The unbeaten 24-year-old Frazier has been floored only three times in his career, all in the second round.

Frazier's record is 20-0, including 18 knockouts. Ramos' record is 20-6-2, including 16 knockouts. He has won 15 straight, 12 of them by knockouts and nine of them in three rounds or less. Ramos never has been floored or stopped. His face is unmarked.

Frazier, as usual, won't be hard to find. "I'm coming out smoking like I always do," he said. "I hope it ends right after the bell sounds."

"I know he'll be coming and I'll be ready," said Ramos. "He can punch but so can I. I didn't come here to lose."

The bout will be telecast coast to coast, but new York and a 90-mile area around the city will be blacked out of the telecast.

Starting time is 9:30 p.m., EDT.

Frazier is recognized as world champion by New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Massachusetts and Maine.

A Character Called Festus

His "accident" wore off as he went through college and switched from medicine to song writing and singing. When he came to California, he joined a series of song groups, including the Sons of the Pioneers and later sang with Shep Fields and Tommy Dorsey's bands.

It was the late Les Crutchfield, writer of many Gunsmoke episodes, who coined the name Festus Haggen when Ken joined the series in the fall of 1963 after Dennis Weaver quit.

"I guess I created the character myself when I played a fellow named Monk in a couple of Have Gun episodes. Monk was a skinner who smelled so bad they wouldn't let him stay in the cow camp with the others, and he had the Festus dialect," Ken recalls.

"I knew I didn't talk like everybody else when I went to Colorado College to study medicine, because I was getting laughs on my straight lines," says Ken.

This broad nasal drawn Ken calls a "dry-land" dialect and it comes from southeast Colorado where Ken was born, and the Texas Panhandle and parts of Oklahoma and Kansas.

Opposes Vote

SCOTT CITY—Jim Wallace, a democratic candidate for representative in Congress in the 10th district, said he has contacted attorneys in seeking an injunction to halt the straw vote to be undertaken at the Truman day rally in Poplar Bluff July 6.

Wallace says the method being attempted impugns the rights of voters as well as jeopardizing the candidates seeking office and asks all who attend this meeting to refrain from voting, since each will have a legal opportunity to do so in the Aug. 6 primary.

Cigarette Test

Leader Repeats

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new comparison test of cigarettes on the U.S. market by the Federal Trade Commission rates Marvels as the lowest in tar and nicotine content.

The FTC reported Thursday the new tests added 68 brands to 59 for which results were announced last November.

King-size nonfilter Chesterfields had the highest tar content in the earlier test group but an even higher content for king-size nonfilter Herbert Tareytons showed up in the figures reported Thursday.

Samples of each brand tested, the FTC said, were purchased at locations throughout the nation. Ten cigarettes of each brand were puffed by machine to a butt length of 23 millimeters or, in the case of those with the longest filters and overwrap plus three millimeters.

STATE CAPITOL JUMPS INTO LIFE AS SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE SESSION STARTS

JEFFERSON CITY — Tourists who have visited the State Capitol this summer have found it to be a quiet almost empty place. On the first floor, many visitors wind through display cases; on the second floor, administrative offices are busy; but on the third and fourth floor there is only silence. With the legislators gone, only a few offices are open, and even the hall lights are off.

Democratic Editors Elect Blanton

JEFFERSON CITY — Carter Blanton, co-publisher of the Shelbina Democrat, was elected president of the Democratic Editors of Missouri. He served as vice president last year.

Blanton succeeds Porter Fisher of the New London Press as head of the organization.

Other officers elected were Don Kirkpatrick of the Windsor Review, vice president; Mrs. Robert Bolwing of the Montgomery City Standard, secretary; Orville Trigg of the Oak Grove Missouri Banner, treasurer.

in a special session causes special problems. The Chamber of Commerce did not know of the session in time to plan their convention schedule around it.

Other business groups will get a boost, also. Restaurants, barber shops, service stations, laundries and others will find extra business.

Obviously, Jefferson City's business community will benefit from the session. How much the legislators will spend is not known, but past experience has shown conventioners in the capital city spend an average of about $30 a day. And, the labor force in Jefferson City will get a boost with the special session as many legislators hire part time secretaries and typists (usually housewives) during their stay.

OSAGE RIVER FLOODS MAKING FARMERS MAD

Farmers in Miller, Cole and Osage counties are continuing to voice complaints about floods on the Osage River. The problem, they say, is with poor timing of releasing water from the Lake of the Ozarks through Bagnell Dam.

Andrew H. Diercks, secretary of the Osage River Flood Assn. points out that flooding has been going on since the 1930s, after the dam was completed in 1931. Rather than helping to control floods, Diercks says, the dam has caused worse floods.

The farmers have been fighting the problem since the beginning. In 1947 a new ruling by the Federal Power Commission required the lake to be kept three feet below normal pool during the months of March, April and May (planting season). The farmers want this period extended through the growing season.

In 1956 they took their problem to the U.S. Senate. The Senate ordered an immediate investigation by the Army Corps of Engineers. Diercks says: "We took it to the Senate and there it will stay until it is disposed of."

Now, 12 years later, the investigation has begun. Col. William G. Kratz, Kansas City district engineer, said the delay was caused by lack of funds. It was not until last year that Congress appropriated $22,000 for the investigation. The first step was a public hearing held in Eldon May 8th. Interested citizens suggested better coordination in the release of the water from the dam, opening up a lock and dam on the Osage to make navigation possible and construct levees. It is hoped that water help control the water about lake, especially Kaysing Dam, will help control the water.

Union Electric Co. is licensed to control the dam, but takes its orders from the Federal Power Commission. Farmers have never received any monetary assistance for flood damage which has occurred.

Ann Landers

Woman Needs Ironing Lesson

Dear Ann Landers: I feel like a moron. I'm sure nobody has ever written to you about this problem because I am probably the only one in the country who is dumb enough to ask it. I am the world's loudest ironer.

My husband has been very nice about it. His shirts always look terrible and I am ashamed of myself. No matter how hard I try I can't do better. I've searched so many collars I decided it would be better to have the iron too cold than too hot. So now his shirts look as if they have not been ironed at all.

Our daughters are growing up and I want their blouses and dresses to look fresh and crisp like the little girls they play with, but I just can't manage it.

I am getting an inferiority complex. It's awful to admit I'm too stupid to iron halfway decently when millions of women are able to do it. Can you help? —WRINKLED IN WHITTIER

Dear Wink: To be a good ironer does not take brains. It takes know-how, practice and patience. Go to a friend or neighbor whose ironing you admire. Ask her to let you watch her wash and iron. See what she puts in the wash water. Several products on the market make ironing easier. Bring your own iron along on the second visit and iron alongside her. After the third or fourth session you should be well on your way.

In exchange for the lessons you can buy her an appropriate gift or bring over a standing rib roast, a casserole of escalloped potatoes and a cherry pie.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like your opinion of a newspaper ad that made me furious. Please tell me if you think I am a sourpuss and a killjoy.

The ad says, "Don't just GO STEADY—go PRE-ENGAGED. Buy this 14 kt. gold diamond pre-engagement ring for only $19.50."

We have three daughters, two in their teens. I am trying desperately to give my girls few basic facts on married love, wholesome values. It's hard these days, with sex screaming at us from the billboards, the movies becoming wildly suggestive and every other teenager driving a car of his own. And now we have ads urging kids to get pre-engaged! cents in coin and a long, How hungry can a merchant get?

Please reply in the paper and I will watch with interest to see if the same paper that printed the ad will have the nerve to print my letter and your comments. — ENRAGED MOTHER

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If You Were the Judge

Girl's Behavior Breaks Her Movie Contract

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Curvacious Clara was closer to a motion picture producer than was his toupee. Hoping to break into the movies and to become a star, she accompanied him where ever he went. Ultimately, however, her friend the producer gave her the air. The result? She made her own scene in court. She sued the producer for breach of contract.

"He promised me a movie career," she told the judge, "if I acted like a daughter to him. The fact is, I did even more. I permitted him to make love to me for over a year. The closest I ever got to a camera, however, was when he took pictures of me at a penny arcade; five for a quarter. He should be made to pay me for not keeping his end of our bargain."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the producer pay for not producing?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that Clara herself had not abided by the terms of the alleged agreement. That by permitting the producer to make love to her, she had not acted like his daughter.

Today In U.S. History

Today is Monday, June 24, the 176th day of 1968. There are 190 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1948, the Soviet Union blockaded all land traffic between Berlin and West Germany. The next day American and British planes began to supply the city in a gigantic airlift.

On this date: In 1945, Christopher Columbus sent five shipsloads of Indians from Isabela, Hispaniola to Spain to be sold as slaves.

In 1520, the Spanish conqueror, Hernando Cortez, entered Mexico City.

In 1793, the first Republican constitution in France was adopted.

In 1940, the French government of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain signed a World War II armistice with Italy.

In 1942, the exiled royal family of the Netherlands arrived in the United States to establish temporary residence.

In 1948, the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia named New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as the GOP presidential candidate.

Ten years ago—A volcano in southern Japan, Mt. Aso erupted, killing 12 persons.

Five years ago—Pope Paul VI said his reign would be dedicated to preserving and consolidating peace.

One year ago—Soviet Premier Alexi Kosygin was sightseeing at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Gideon Leukemia Victim Needs Blood

GIDEON—Mrs. Harriet Berry, 37-year-old Gideon housewife and mother of three children and mother of three children has become the victim of leukemia and must have two pints of fresh blood each month or she will die.

Health officials say she sometimes requires four pints a month. Her present blood supply has been exhausted and an appeal is being made by Dunklin County Health Administrator Troy Wilson for blood donors. Anyone desiring to donate blood may contact Dunklin County Memorial Hospital. Any blood type will be accepted and will be exchanged for Mrs. Berry's type.

Tom Crunk, head of the Nazarene Church in Malden, Dallas, rent 555 acres on the L. B. Fletcher farm at Gideon. They have three children, Juanita, 17, Paul, 15 and Bruce, 3.

It was first discovered in March of 1967 at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis that Mrs. Berry had leukemia, an incurable disease. Since she has had to have the new supply of blood each month to remain alive.

The Berrys attend the Nazarene Church in Malden.

Mississippi Flood About Due in Cycle

CAPE GIRARDEAU—Despite a levee system that is unsurpassed in all history and a series of dams and small water conservancy pools throughout the river valleys, there is no complacency within the corps of engineers about future Mississippi river floods.

Col. Edwin R. Decker, St. Louis District engineer, chatting on a barge trip to Trail of Tears State Park, mused over it.

"We're long overdue for a major flood threat," he said. They come in five-year cycles and the last we had was in 1957."

It was recalled that the engineers almost every spring conduct a mock flood exercise. In this theoretical flood, St. Louis and Vicksburg headquarters set up simulated flood stages, endangered levees every conceivable emergency which might arise and which has arisen in a flood.

Along the length of the Mississippi men in sector offices, such as that here, open the envelopes and react as they would be expected to react were it a real flood.

This is fine, Colonel Decker observed, "But the problem is that we have very few men left in the organization who have actually fought a real flood."

Two Injured In Accidents Near Dorena

CHARLESTON—Two Choate Farm workers were injured in separate accidents on the farm, located near Dorena. Both accidents involved overturning of farm vehicles.

Most seriously injured was Steve Ledbetter, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ledbetter.

According to Mrs. Ledbetter, Steve was putting down fertilizer with a tractor-fertilizer rig Saturday about 11:30 a.m. and the tractor started to overturn into a ditch.

Ledbetter jumped clear as the tractor fell into the water but his left leg was run over by one of the tractor tires.

He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Cairo, where X-rays disclosed no broken bones. Ligaments in the leg were pulled, however, and the youth is in a cast from hip to ankle. He is expected to be released from the hospital by the end of the week.

Ledbetter also suffered burns scrapes and cuts in the accident.

In a similar accident Monday about noon, James Pollock, teenage son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pollock, overturned a highboy he was driving and suffered a broken wrist.

Weed Control Tour July 1

PORTAGEVILLE—A public tour of the weed control research plots at the Delta Center will be held July 1 from 9 a.m. to noon according to Joe Scott, extension agronomist.

Results of pre and post-emergence weed control treatments will be observed on cotton, soybeans and corn.

This will include the use of herbicides as preplant treatments with different methods of application; pre-emergence herbicides and as double treatments; single and combinations of herbicides as post-emergence treatments.

The Delta Center Research farm is six miles east of Portageville.

Construction on Route C Resumes

CAPE GIRARDEAU—The state highway department has urged motorists using route C in Stoddard County between advance and Arab, to use caution during construction, which has been resumed.

Ale C. Cato, resident engineer, noted work was started again this week after being shut down during a strike for several weeks.

He said route C will be open to traffic at all times, but portions of the roadway will have to be constructed while traffic moves and will require care by motorists.

Warning and information signs notify motorists of the dangers.

No Fireworks Can Be Fired in East Prairie

EAST PRAIRIE—Chief of Police Jake Abner has stressed again the city ordinance prohibiting the firing of fireworks within the city limits. Persons caught firing fireworks are subject to a $25 fine.

Fireworks of type "C" may be sold within the city limits but cannot be discharged, violators will be fined.

What gets under Chevrolet's skin?

Beneath Chevrolet's thick skin (double-walled in most places) lies a truck chassis built for punishment. A heavy-gauge steel frame provides the solid backbone for this inner strength. While a host of durable driveline components supply the muscle. Enough to whip most any job.

Of course, the heart of all this brawn is a Chevrolet engine. Six or V8, all are built for stamina. They last longer because of such things as induction-hardened crankshaft journals. Inexpensive to operate, too. All run on regular gasoline.

Keeping everything riding smoothly is the job of Chevy's famed independent front suspension. And what a job it does! Combined with tough coil springs, front and rear, this suspension system cushions the entire truck from jarring road shock.

So you see, beautiful engineering is more than skin deep on Chevrolet.

Only the toughest truck components in the business!

Three Drown in Southeast Missouri Over Weekend

Three drownings and three traffic accidents resulting in six injuries were reported over the weekend, by the state highway patrol.

Ricky Arnold Hentz, five, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hentz, Poplar Bluff, drowned yesterday at 1:05 p.m. at the swimming pool at the Hickory House Motel in Poplar Bluff.

The patrol said a brother of the boy saw him in the water and his father, the juvenile officer in Butler County, pulled his son from the water. Attempts to revive the boy were made by the Poplar Bluff fire department's rescue squad. He was pronounced dead at the Doctor's Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Charles Darmon, 30, Senath, drowned Friday in a bar pit northwest of Senath. The body was recovered by his father Saturday morning and was taken to the McDaniel Funeral Home in Senath.

The body of Marvin Ornan

Smith, 66, Hornersville, was found Saturday at 10 a.m. by fishermen. The body was recovered by Sheriff Raymond Scott of Dunklin County. The patrol said Smith had been in the water two or three days.

Smith was taken to the Emerson Funeral Home in Kennett.

At 3:45 p.m. Sunday, five miles west of Fredricktown on route 72, a car driven by Joann Lafatta, 26, St. Louis, collided with a car driven by Kenneth Cash, 19, Farmington.

Cash received cuts on his forehead and a passenger in his car, Lenna Cash, 41, Farmington, received cuts on the face and head. Both were taken to the Madison County hospital in Fredricktown.

The patrol said the Lafatta car was making a left turn when Cash came over a hill and collided head on.

At 5 a.m. yesterday, five miles west of Kewanee on route

Injured were two passengers. John King, 33, Lilbourn, cuts and bruises and Lubeo King, 39, Lilbourn, broken jaw. Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Saturday at 1:30 p.m., on highway E, one mile west of Oak Ridge, a car driven by Michael Gene Welker, 18, Millersville, collided with a truck driven by Lynn Roberts, 68, of Oak Ridge.

Welker received leg and possible internal injuries and a passenger in the truck, Rodney Lee Roberts, 6, Oak Ridge, received cuts on the forehead. Both were taken to the Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Patrol said the truck pulled out of a field road into the path of the car, which was coming over a hill and apparently could not be seen.

Week-Long AP Survey Finds 189 Persons Killed by Gunfire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gunfire killed 189 persons in the United States, a week-long survey by The Associated Press shows, and most of the deaths were homicides. The survey, ended at midnight Sunday, was taken during the same week President Johnson signed an anticrime bill containing gun-control provisions.

The shooting deaths included 109 homicides, 64 suicides and 16 accidents.

In 1966, the last year for which FBI figures are available, there was an average of 125 shooting homicides a week.

Demands for tighter gun-control measures were made after the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—all killed by guns.

Proponents of gun control blame loose traffic in firearms for thousands of deaths each year.

President Johnson signed an omnibus anticrime bill last Wednesday, which contained a gun-control section. More stringent laws on gun control are being considered by Congress.

Two of the provisions in the crime bill: —Prohibit interstate mail-order sales of handguns and also their over-the-counter sale to nonresidents of a state and to people under 21.

—Make illegal the possession of any firearms by felons, mental incompetents, aliens illegally in the country, Americans who have renounced their citizenship and veterans who receive other than an honorable discharge.

A measure pending before Congress and sponsored by the President would ban mail order sales of all firearms, including rifles and shotguns.

The AP survey, begun midnight Sunday, June 16, showed gunfire in Texas claimed 20 lives, the greatest number of any state, homicides there accounted for 14 deaths, almost double the next highest states—Illinois, 16, California, 13, Michigan and Ohio, 10.

Illinois had the most suicide shootings, 7, and Tennessee and Georgia the greatest number of accidental shooting deaths, 3.

Four homicides occurred Saturday night in Chicago—one of which police commented was

“just one of those circumstances where a gun is too readily available.”

Andrew J. Toman, Cook County (Chicago) coroner reported during the week that more persons died in the county from gun wounds during 1967 than died in automobile accidents. He said 607 firearms deaths were reported compared with 591 traffic fatalities.

With the rising public concern over the availability of firearms two of the nation's largest mail order houses announced changes during the week in firearms sale policy.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. banned all purchase of guns through mail and Montgomery Ward and Co. stipulated that all mail orders must be picked up in person, at stores or catalogue order outlets.

Today with operating a motor vehicle with no city auto license: Charles Hill, 234 Dorothy; Mary Sue Cooper, 806 Ladue, and Marvin C. Williams, Sikeston.

Bids Sought for Sewer, Water Main Construction

Bids for additional water and sewer main construction will be opened July 9, at the city administration building, E. R. Inman, director of the board of municipal utilities, said.

The work to be let is estimated to be $600,000 to $700,000, Inman said.

The picture of Salmon P. Chase appears on $10,000 bills, Grover Cleveland on $5,000, and William McKinley on $1,000.

The only wife of a President to have her portrait on currency was Martha Washington. Her picture appeared on $1 silver certificates, series 1886, 1891 and 1896.

Ward's also announced all purchasers of firearms at its downtown Chicago store will be photographed at the time the sale is made. The change in policy came, company officials said, in cooperation with local authorities enforcing a recently passed gun registration ordinance.

Humphrey, during an interview with editors of the New York Times, said he would be prepared to offer a cease-fire "any hour of the day" but said Hanoi has shown no such interest.

Booing Interrupts Huong

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong was booed and hooted for 10 minutes in South Vietnam's lower house today. A source close to the premier said the demonstration was part of an organized right-wing effort to unseat the government.

The House of Representatives, egged on by a bloc of Roman Catholic legislators, erupted after Huong said the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front at one time contained non-Communist nationalist elements. When the uproar died down, Huong said the NLF is now entirely Communist controlled and that non-Communist elements have been liquidated.

"There is a campaign against the government" said a source close to the premier.

He would not specify who is leading the campaign, but there was immediate suspicion of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, a native of North Vietnam who opposed President Nguyen Van Thieu's appointment of Huong to replace Premier Nguyen Van Loc, a Ky man. Ky is also identified with the more militant right-wing segments of Vietnamese political life who oppose any talk of negotiations with the Communists.

Huong and other officials appeared in the lower house to discuss ways of increasing security in and around Saigon.

Huong had begun to talk about nationalist elements who opposed the French in colonial days and opponents of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem who he said had helped form the NLF. "I know they were all nationalists," he said.

Legislators then started booing the 67-year-old premier and banging on their desks to drown him out.

The violence with which the lower house greeted Huong's original remark is indicative of the problem the government would face if it tried conciliation with the Communists.

Candidates for GOP At-Large Seats Deny Switch to Reagan

KANSAS CITY (AP) — One slate of candidates for four at-large seats on the Missouri delegation to the Republican national convention denied Sunday that it planned to switch from Richard Nixon to Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Three of the candidates, at a reception in their honor, took turns on the rostrum and declared they would support Nixon at the convention until he released them.

They were Lawrence J. Meisel, mayor of Frontenac and state party finance chairman; Mrs. Jewett Fulkerson of Liberty, and Miss Lydia Jane Miller of Kansas City.

The fourth candidate, Dorman Steelman of Salem, state GOP chairman, said by telephone from his home that charges of a switch to Reagan were absurd.

The charge was made Thursday by Robert W. Berrey, Nixon, its supporters say. There III, Jackson County magistrate, have been reports that it would strike by 51 inmates last week, and another disturbance when four prisoners commandeered the roof of the power plant. They surrendered to a 10-man guard unit.

The seven fires were reported in the hospital, the deputy warden's office, the woolen mill printing shop, power plant, and the paint shop.

Many of the injured were treated for smoke inhalation. Two men carried out on stretchers were bleeding from the forehead. Three guards suffered apparent heart attacks.

Donald Craig, an employee, said he was in the hospital shortly before 8 a.m. when he was rushed by several inmates armed with clubs and scissors. He said he and other employees ran to the third floor and barricaded themselves.

Inmates then set fire to the hospital, Craig said.

Craig said trapped employees smashed windows and attempted to escape by tying blankets in knots and scaling the outside. They were rescued by guards and some inmates.

The roaring flames leaped 40 feet into the air and heavy, black smoke billowed over downtown Columbus.

He said he had no knowledge of any demands by the convicts.

At least seven fires erupted inside the walled prison, which houses 2750 inmates. Some of the fires were still burning three hours later.

Maxwell said the hospital fire was "out of control 10 to 20 minutes."

There was never any danger of a mass break-out," Koblenz said.

Maxwell credited a number of inmates with helping to put out some of the fires.

Two hundred Ohio National Guardsmen were sent to their armory, but they were not called into duty at the prison. One hundred state highway patrol, city police and sheriff's deputies reinforced the prison guards.

Maxwell said 20 prison guards were on duty before the first fire broke out.

The warden thought it likely the riot and fires were spontaneous.

"I can't believe it was a planned revolt," he said, although he said the situation has been "tight for the last week." He referred to a sit down to the war would not include a settlement that would result in a Communist government in South Vietnam.

"I think the settlement has got to be on a basis of self-determination," he said, "and the renunciation on the part of the Viet Cong of the use of force and subversion."

Rockefeller was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press"

GOP candidate Nixon, meanwhile, said he was disturbed at what he called indications "the administration plans to follow the path of least political resistance and swing its economy as heavily against the national security budget."

Newsman following third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace, meanwhile, estimate his recently completed 11-day, fund-raising tour may have brought his campaign more than $300,000.

While the candidates argued the issues over the weekend, party conventions in eight states selected or distributed national convention delegates.

Nixon picked up nearly 75 for a total of 445 of the 667 convention votes needed for the GOP presidential nomination.

Humphrey appeared to have won more than 100 but only 20 from Minnesota were officially committed.

Berrey said Jerry Harkins of St. Louis, chairman of the Missouri Goldwater campaign in 1964, now was working for Reagan and would control the Nixon slate if it were elected.

Harkins was present at Sunday's meeting and said the charge was "ludicrous" and "idiotic."

"Don't let there be any doubt in your mind," Harkins said, "that the Missouri delegates for Nixon plan to support him at the convention."

Another slate of candidates for the four seats includes Gene Taylor of Sarcoxie, national committeeman; Mrs. Stanley Ginn of Columbia, national committeewoman; Rep. R. J. Dorman Steelman of Salem, House leader, and Henry Poindexter of Kansas City, state GOP chairman, said by telephone from his home that charges of a switch to Reagan were absurd.

HOW ABOUT YOUR FLAG?

Getting-everything-ready is a pleasurable part of any Fourth of July celebration. Certainly it should include the flag.

Today is a good time to check on that. We urge that everyone take a look at his own Stars and Stripes in Sunday leisure and then, Tuesday, be sure to fly it high and proud.

Modern conditions change so rapidly that business is always detouring. That's the trouble with business nowadays.

Sentimentalist. In St. Joseph, Mo., a thief broke into the sheriff's office, made off with the cornerstone of the old jail.

A PLATITUDE is a truth so often said that it becomes a bore. Or, to express it in a platitude voiced by Aesop 2,500 years ago, familiarity breeds contempt.

This definition is contained in The Travelers Insurance Companies annual highway accident booklet, which reports 52,200 deaths and 4,200,000 injuries last year. Statistics in the booklet were compiled from reports by state motor vehicle departments.

The fact that we may tire of hearing a truth, however, doesn't lessen its value as a guide to behavior. The Golden Rule is a platitude perhaps "more honored in the breach than the observance" -- but that does not diminish its worth nor its practicality.

There is no fault in the platitude. The fault lies in the attitude, which can be disastrous-- particularly in respect to driving an automobile.

There is nothing wrong with platitudes like: Speed kills... Drive defensively... If you drink, don't drive. They are absolutely right. For everybody. But in the attitude of many of us, they are for somebody else, not us.

We have all observed, at one time or another, those drivers who go along castigating everything but themselves... fools behind other wheels, stupid pedestrians, faulty highways and defective vehicles. This is perhaps only human. It is also irresponsible.

THE QUESTION FOR PARIS

In a speech in Monroe county over the weekend Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton raised a question that must be uppermost in the minds of many Americans. "When is the killing in Vietnam going to end?" Mr. Eagleton noted that in the Korean war more than two years elapsed between the start of armistice negotiations and the agreement on a ceasefire, during this period the fighting and killing continued.

Is this pattern to be repeated? Every American hopes the answer is No. More than 24,000 Americans have been killed and 150,000 wounded in Vietnam thus far; the first week in June 438 Americans were killed and 3870 wounded. There were greater casualties among the Vietnamese on both sides. Why must this killing go on while the diplomats talk in Paris?

There are enormously complex questions to be decided, of course, but Mr. Eagleton wonders why these cannot be discussed after an armistice is put into effect. Unlike in Korea, there are few set battle lines in Vietnam, and consequently a cease-fire in Vietnam could be more difficult to achieve than the Korean armistice. But if it should take two years, and if the fighting is as intense as in recent weeks, the United States faces the appalling burden of as many as 450,000 more dead and wounded, not to speak of Vietnamese losses.

We would like to believe that long before this the belligerents will come to their senses and stop the slaughter. Korea does not need to be a precedent. Mr. Eagleton suggests a better precedent may be found in the resolution of the Dutch-Indonesian struggle in the late 1940s. He suggests an international peace-keeping force could help significantly in Vietnam.

Mr. Eagleton, whose discussion of the war in terms such as this strengthens his claim to the Democratic nomination for Senator, rightly declares that if there is to be a cease-fire they must be a will to peace on both sides at Paris. That has not been particularly evident so far and we can only hope that it develops quickly, before more lives are needlessly lost in this Asian struggle.

IT'S TIME TO STAND UP FOR THE UNDERDOG

I have just about reached the end of my tolerance for the way our society at the present time seems to have sympathetic concern only for the misfit, the pervert, the drug addict, the drifter, the ne'er-do-well, the maladjusted, the chronic criminal, the underachiever, the loser--in general, the underwood.

I feel it is time for someone like me to stand up and say, "I'm for the uppperdog!" I'm also for the achiever--the one who sets out to do something and does it; the one who recognizes the problems and opportunities at hand and endeavors to deal with them; the one who is successful at his immediate task, because he is not worrying about someone else's failings, the one who doesn't consider it "square" to be constantly looking for more to do, who carries the work of his part of the world squarely on his shoulders.

Not the wealthy, necessarily; not the ones in authority, necessarily; not the gifted, necessarily--just the doer, the achiever--regardless of his status, his opulence, his native endowment.

This is the day when the fashion is to be for the underdog. The attitude is being developed that if you really want people to care for you--and who doesn't?--don't be successful; be a misfit, a loser, a victim of one's environment. This is an occasion to honor the successful.

How horribly wrong it is to level our guns of hostility, envy and ridicule on the successful man who more often than not struggled financially to get a college education, who more often than not works at his job more than 60 hours a week, who buys a comfortable home in the suburbs with the welfare of his family in mind, who is active in his church and community affairs, who gives his time to service on boards of education and social-welfare agencies, and in some cases is shortening his life span through overwork and anxiety resulting from the basic social responsibilities he must carry.

These are among the chief doers and achievers of today.

We will never create a good society, much less a great one, until individual excellence and achievement is not only respected but encouraged. That is why I'm for the uppperdog--the achiever--the succeder. I'm for building an ever better society, and this will only be done by those who take seriously their responsibility for achievement for making the most of their native ability, for getting done the job at hand.

A workable "creative federalism" process for transportation in the U.S. is necessary, according to Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd. He said without such a process, transportation "will never be a system but an uncoordinated tangle of short-term improvements leading to long-term congestion and failure."

When every motor car operator is licensed and the license can be revoked even though operation of a motor vehicle is necessary to earn a living, it is ridiculous to require less for possession of firearms.

The fact that the United States does not require gun registration testifies to the potency of pressure groups and to the neglect of the public welfare.

There are many, many less urgent laws on the books. But the National Rifle Association operates a potent lobby. So do other gun interests.

The association persists in calling the efforts to control guns childish and nonsensical.

Nobody but Congress has been taken in by such nonsense.

Not only gun registration is a minimum necessity but strict penalties must be imposed for misuse of guns and for all violations of registration.

Congress must pass such legislation. It has too long tampered with the safety of the American people to appease a lobbyist interest.

Only voter pressure will produce passage of such a law. Congress has long demonstrated its reluctance to act.

Law enforcement officers for many years have sought a gun control law.

One by one the nation's leaders are being cut down by gunfire.

It's time that Congress acts.

Other gun proposals do not give the American people and their leaders sufficient protection.

BUTTON THAT LIP OR DINE ON CROW There's something to be said for less than instantaneous communication.

Take the case of Sen. J. William Fulbright who right now must be looking rather fondly on the days when news dispatches from Washington were disseminated to the rest of the nation at stagecoach speed.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and leading critic of the Vietnam war, congratulated the President immediately after his speech in which he announced a limitation of the bombing of North Vietnam.

The next day, when it became evident that the limitation was not as complete as everyone thought, Fulbright was one of the first to hop on the President and decry his move as "of no consequence." News services carried his flat prediction that it would not lead to peace talks.

Two days after that, of course, Hanoi did respond favorably and Fulbright was forced to admit he had spoken too soon, as he manfully addresses himself to a generous serving of crow.

Perhaps there is a lesson for all of us in what the senator's wife told him "You talk too much." Perhaps all of us ought to button up our opinions for the duration of the current period of uncertainty, responding neither with unrealistic enthusiasm nor unwarranted pessimism in reaction to the ups and downs, advances and retreats that almost certainly will accompany the diplomatic maneuverings now under way.

NICE, BUT NOT LIKE MOTHER

A sociologist at the University of Chicago suggests that men who ride airlines might be happier if stewardesses were symbols of motherhood instead of being... well, as they are.

As you may have already guessed, this sociologist is not a man. She is Dr. Alice S. Rossi, a director of a newly-formed group called the National Organization of Women. (It has called stewardesses "airborne bunnies.")

Airlines, Dr. Rossi avers, assume that men prefer stewardesses who make it possible for them to "indulge their fantasies."

She further avers that these men might be more secure if they were served by motherly women.

With no desire to dispute a lady - certainly not a lady sociologist - it must nevertheless be stated in the interest of factual reporting that there doesn't seem to be overwhelming evidence that male passengers attended by motherly young stewardesses are desperately homesick for their mothers.

These men may, of course, be able to repress such maternity yearning by reminding themselves that if they do feel the need to be more secure, they can always fasten their seatbelts.-P.J.

And when the Senate Banking and Currency Committee dragged its feet, the vice president went to his old friend, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, chairman, and persuaded him to hold hearings. Sparkman was reluctant. It was no help to him with Alabama voters. But he bowed to his old friend, the vice president, and put the bill through his committee.

"JUST A BEGINNING--

"We can do all this one hundredfold," Humphrey told his staff. "We've just got started. It's not what we've done, but what we're going to do that counts."

Also unknown to the crowd which booed the vice president was the way he got his Minnesota friend, Sen. Walter Mondale, to introduce a new civil rights bill containing an open housing section. And when the Senate Banking and Currency Committee dragged its feet, the vice president went to his old friend, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, chairman, and persuaded him to hold hearings. Sparkman was reluctant. It was no help to him with Alabama voters. But he bowed to his old friend, the vice president, and put the bill through his committee.

It resulted in the most important civil rights legislation in recent years.

These are some of the things that the crowd at the Lincoln Memorial either forgot or didn't know.

--MOUNTAIN CLIMBER DOUGLAS--

Justice William O. Douglas, 69 years old and appointed to the Supreme Court 29 years ago at the age of 41, now has a "pacemaker" in his chest to insure a regular heart beat.

When his friend Gifford Fisher sent him flowers, Justice Douglas wrote a thank-you saying, among other things, that he and his wife Cathy were off to Washington state. He added this postscript: "How about climbing Mt. Ranier with us this summer?"

when such regions cross state boundaries, NAM favors using existing interstate compact procedures. "If, however, such compacts cannot be reached by the states, we favor the creation of regional air quality commissions" of the type proposed by Public Works Committee Chairman Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.), he said.

Mr. Cramer also supported Senator Randolph's proposal for the establishment of regional air quality standards. Such an approach, he said, allows the people of each region to decide the air standards which will best meet their health, recreational and economic needs.

Nation-wide industry emission standards would not permit such flexibility, he noted. "In our view, the purpose of emission standards is to insure that previously determined air quality standards are met." Mr. Cramer said.

Doc. Duncan Says

Gramp, what ails them kids in France?

Same thing what ails kids all over the world. They can feel it comin and don't want no part in it. Rulers is runnin to and fro meddlin on other nations trying to run their bizness and start a fight and make a hero name for themselves through the shed blood of their youth. Seems like Ding Dang Poo didn't learn France nothin.

The worst disease of all is to be found among those who would have us believe that communism is better than capitalism. These would-be destroyers of freedom are indeed suffering from a terrible illness. But the rest of us, the overwhelming majority, do not need to allow ourselves to be infected with their sickness.

Defeatist talk of a sick society will not save America. But active patriotism, freely proclaimed and regularly practiced, can and will. HLH.

under a system that often may further family breakdown and discourage the will to work.

The centers of our cities, where these uprooted people congregate, become slums for the desperate. Here, the most trivial spark can touch off a powder keg of accumulated grievances, bitterness and resentment.

We must learn to understand the changes occurring in our world so that we can head off the crises born of change. In this case, we might have avoided one of the major roots of unrest in our cities today by an intelligent approach to the problems of rural people plunged into our exacting urban society.

Take another example of change outrunning our responses. Right now our aviation industry is reedying giant jets that will speed 300 passengers across the ocean in hours.

This is aviation progress. But it is not an isolated event. We have to anticipate the enormous ground traffic congestion that will occur when these giants begin disgorging thousands of city-bound passengers at our airports within minutes of each other.

In New York State, we have looked ahead. We measured what was happening on highways, commuter railways, subways and at airports. We figured out what we would need to keep our transportation facilities equal to our swiftly expanding transportation needs.

The solution I proposed was a $2.5 billion bond issue to create a transportation system that would sensibly tie all our forms of transportation into a modern, integrated, balanced system. Last year, New Yorkers approved this bond issue by a heavy majority.

On the international scene, our failure to adopt to change has led to foreign policies that satisfy neither ourselves nor our allies. Vietnam is the most recent and painful example.

We have been a fortunate nation and a people of good will. As a consequence, we somehow tend to assume that the problems of change will work themselves out. We generally see our ourselves like a sturdy ship on a rough sea--sure to right itself and ride out any storm.

But we have learned from harsh experience that our society will not straighten out by itself. We are going to have to work hard--and think hard--to get America back on course.

Yet, I see no reason for seemingly separate developments such as riots in our cities and the industrialization of Southern agriculture.

Let's trace that connection. Industrialization displaces the Southern farm laborer and his family, generally Negroes. They move north to the city with hopes for a new life. Instead they encounter a shrinking labor market for the unskilled and an increasing demand for job qualifications. Lacking income, the family turns to welfare, the history of mankind.

We should not fear this change. Rather, we should shape it, direct it, and lead it. Then, we can lead not only America but the world toward the greatest period of peace and progress in the history of mankind.

ALBANY--On a recent visit to a museum, the display that impressed my young son Nelson most was a reconstructed dinosaur. Somehow he could not understand how such huge, strange creatures could have died out, and he wanted to know why. I wondered how to explain extinction to a four-year-old. Finally, I just said, "He couldn't learn to change."

Today, change sweeps our world at a headlong, ever-quicken pace. The divisions and doubts within our country, the price we are paying for failing to adapt quickly enough to change.

Our responses, lagging behind the furious pace of events, are all too often irrelevant to our actual problems. We appear thrown off balance by the very thrust of change--too often making decisions while reeling, jumping in here, pulling back there, and making commitments everywhere.

Whether it is Vietnam, the decline of the dollar, decay of the cities or riots in the streets, we seem to have lost much of our sense of purposeful destiny.

We are powerful, yet often appear powerless. As a result, our national mood is one of uncertainty, darkened with a loss of confidence in ourselves and in our institutions.

This need not be. We need not lose faith in ourselves and in our system of government. What we need is to understand more clearly the forces of change in the world--and learn to master them, rather than let them master us.

By understanding change was can comprehend, for example, the direct link between seemingly separate developments such as riots in our cities and the industrialization of Southern agriculture.

Let's trace that connection. Industrialization displaces the Southern farm laborer and his family, generally Negroes. They move north to the city with hopes for a new life. Instead they encounter a shrinking labor market for the unskilled and an increasing demand for job qualifications. Lacking income, the family turns to welfare, the history of mankind.

Mary Margaret Miller Says Vows With Ricky L. Bunting

CHAFFEE -- Miss Mary Margaret Miller became the bride of Ricky Lee Bunting last at 7:30 p.m. June 15 at First Baptist church. Miss Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Miller of Chaffee and Bunting is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bunting, Lilbourn.

The Rev. R. L. Robinson performed the double ring ceremony before a setting of twin candelabra and baskets of peach and white floral arrangements. Miss Lynn Ransdell of Oran was the organist with Miss Judy Pobot of Chaffee as soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of peau de soie with a bateau neckline. A short lace bolero featuring long lace bell sleeves was worn over the bodice. The full-length straight train of peau de soie overlaid with lace was attached to the shoulders of the gown. The gown was designed and made by the bride's mother. An elbow-length veil of hand rolled silk illusion was held to a stain covered pillbox hat accented with seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was white carnations centered with white roses from which she presented one to her mother as she approached the altar and one to the groom's mother following the ceremony.

Miss Rhonda Jean Miller served her sister as maid of honor with sister Gayle Denise Miller as junior bridesmaid. Miss Marilyn Bunting, sister of the groom, Miss Sandra Ward of Poplar Bluff and Miss Ruth Ellen Huey of Chaffee were bridesmaids. They were dressed in formal empire style gowns of peach colored satin accented with dark orange velvet bands at the waistlines. The bands came to the bows and streamers in the center front of the skirt.

They each carried long stem roses with white streamers. Their nosegay veils of nylon tulle was attached to circlets of roses.

Patty Brannum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brannum of Lilbourn, was flower girl and Ricky Wilkerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilkerson of Poplar Bluff, was ring bearer. The flower girl was dressed identically to the attendants her gown featured elbow-length bell sleeves. She carried a basket of peach roses and buds.

The groom chose his brother, John Bunting, Lilbourn, as best man. Groomsmen were Jerry and Mike McGhee and Jimmy Smelser, all of Lilbourn. Serving as ushers were Larry Cross of Poplar Bluff and Steve Wunderlich of Cape Girardeau.

A reception was held in the church basement. The bride's table was covered with white and overlaid with peach net. In the center of the table was the wedding cake in the form of a large cross lying flat and centered with a square layer holding a miniature bride and groom. Twin three branched candelabra graced each side of the cake with the crystal punch bowl at one end of the table.

Miss Janice Caldwell of Benton, Miss Libby Norton of Lilbourn and Miss Linda Cunningham of Chaffee served. Miss Sandra Allen of Poplar Bluff and Miss Pam Miller of Chicago, Ill., were in charge of the guest books.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Chaffee high school and is enrolled as a junior at Arkansas State University.

Bunting is a 1965 graduate of Risco high school and is a senior at Arkansas State.

Following the reception the couple left for Chicago where they will be employed during the summer.

FOOD FOR FUNDS

EAST ORCHARD MESA, Colo. (AP) -- Residents of this western Colorado community recently held their 41st annual ham and bean dinner, an event held each year on a Sunday in the peach blossom season. Proceeds from the dinners have long since paid for the community building and extra equipment. New funds will be invested in added improvements.

The Conservation Commission has approved a reorganization of the department's protection section—the corps of conservation agents—creating a new level of administrative authority.

Each of the nine protection regions of the state (northwest, north central, etc.) will be divided into three districts, each with its own supervisor selected from the ranks of agents in the district. Each district will include from three to six counties. District supervisors will be directly responsible to regional supervisors.

New district supervisors approved by the Commission are Chester Barnes of Poplar Bluff, Doyle Beck of Potosi, Les Brown of Steelville, Jesse Flossing of Liberty, John Frye of Cassville, Coval Gann of Chillicothe, Roy Harman of Hermitage, Earl Kinder of Van Buren, Robert King of Troy, Ben Kridler of Jefferson City, Glen McCloud of Gallatin, Donald J. May of Dexter, Art Province of Charleston, Ronald Roellig of Houston, Carl Rude of Trenton, Robley Sanders of Lebanon, Fred Shaw of St. Charles, William Stuesse of Booneville, Oadis Swigart of Savannah, Chester Vermaas of Sedalia, Quentin Walsh of Eldorado Springs, Robert Walsh of Cape Fair, Edgar Webb of Camdenton, Harold White of Hannibal, Clyde Wilson of Fulton, William Hailey of Gainesville and Foin Morrison of Marshfield.

The Missouri Conservation Commission has urged the state's congressional delegation to use extreme caution in considering antirifles legislation.

In a telegram to Missouri's United States senators and representatives, the Commission urged legislators to "proceed with deliberate care" in the matter "particularly in times of emotional reaction and frustration with social patterns."

The wire was sent during a regular meeting of the Commission here June 20. The full text of the telegram follows:

"The Missouri Conservation Commission urges all legislative and rule or policy making bodies to proceed with deliberate care when considering gun legislation and gun regulations, particularly in times of emotional reaction and frustration with social patterns."

"Carefully developed gun legislation may serve beneficial purposes, but it won't be good legislation if it doesn't give well-reasoned consideration to the millions of Americans who have legitimate reasons for owning firearms for hunting or for other socially beneficial purposes. Gun regulations springing primarily as an emotional vent to frustration with broad social problems may lead to little more than the creation of an additional set of problems and a new set of frustrations."

"We urge that when any gun legislation is drafted there be due regard to the socially justifiable aspects of gun ownership."

"Entire natural resource conservation programs and the principal outdoor recreation of a large segment of our population are closely tied to the ownership and use of guns. The needs and wishes of the many millions of Americans who regularly use guns legitimately and properly for beneficial purposes should not be lost in a single minded effort to control the relatively few who misuse guns. Gun legislation is a matter for careful, cool, deliberate consideration of a kind which is in keeping with the needs to solve the complex and trying problems of our society which have been brought into dramatic focus by recent tragic events."

The nation's most outstanding sports shooters move into San Antonio, Texas, at the end of June to compete for national honors in the U.S. International Shooting Championships and to strive for a position on the U.S. Olympic Shooting Team.

Included in the field of 400 rifle, shotgun, and pistol competitors will be three former Olympic gold medalists.

Capt. Lones Wigger, Great Falls, Montana, of the U.S. Army, and Gary Anderson, San Anselmo, California, two of the nation's best known riflemen, will be contestants. Wigger, a former national Smallbore Rifle champion, set a world record in the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo when he captured the three-position Smallbore Rifle title with a fantastic score of 1164 points out of 1200.

Anderson, since he zoomed into prominence with a record-shattering gold medal winning performance in the World Shooting Championships in Cairo in 1962, has collected nearly two dozen first-place awards in individual and team competitions at International Matches.

In 1964 he took the gold medal in Tokyo with a record score of 1153 points out of 1200 in the 300-meter three-position, Free Rifle match.

Maj. William McMillan, San Diego, Calif., a Marine Corps Officer, is the only American to take the gold medal in the Rapid Fire Pistol competition.

McMillan brought the U.S. its victory in the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome, Italy, with a score of 587 points out of 600, which tied the world score at that time.

The U.S. International Shooting Championships will consist of 11 events. Seven of these will be the Final Tryouts for the U.S. Olympic Team. The U.S. Team will consist of four pistol shooters, four riflemen, and four shotgun competitors. The seven matches that will determine the U.S. Team are 300 birds in Skeet; the 60-shot course with the Free Pistol; three days of competition in the three-position Smallbore Rifle; three courses of fire with the Rapid Fire Pistol; 300 birds of Clay Pigeon (trap shooting); and the Free Rifle, which will last three days.

The other matches that will fill out the U.S. International Shooting Championships program are Running Boar, Air Rifle, Standard Pistol and Center Fire Pistol.

The Standard Pistol and Air Rifle matches are new editions to the annual program.

The U.S. International Championships which are sponsored by the National Rifle Association, will be co-hosted by Lackland AFB and the Texas International Gun Club.

The Texas club will conduct the two Olympic shotgun events and the other matches will be at Lackland.

Running Boar kicks off the month of shooting on June 26 and the competitions end on July 19 with the last day of firing in Standard Pistol, Center Fire Pistol, and Free Rifle.

The Skeet dates are July 5-7; Air Rifle, July 8-11; Free Pistol, July 9-11; Smallbore Rifle, July 9-11; Clay Pigeon, July 12-14; Three-position Smallbore Rifle, July 12-14; and Rapid Fire Pistol, July 13-15.

Officials for the 1968 U.S. Olympic Shooting Team are Harry Reeves, Andrews North Carolina, Team Captain, and Jim Crossman, Alexandria, Virginia, Team Adjutant.

That dialect Ken Curtis uses as Festus Haggen in Gunsmoke may be slightly exaggerated, but it's authentic and Ken comes by it naturally.

"It's making two syllables out of one-syllable words that does it," he explains. "The word 'horse,' for example, is pronounced 'HOR-us' and 'brown' is 'brow-UN.' A man's name like 'Ken' becomes 'Key-ON.'"

This broad nasal drawl Ken calls a "dry-land" dialect and it comes from southeast Colorado where Ken was born, and the Texas Panhandle and parts of Oklahoma and Kansas.

"I knew I didn't talk like everybody else when I went to Colorado College to study medicine, because I was getting laughs on my straight lines," says Ken.

His "accent" wore off as he went through college and switched from medicine to song writing and singing. When he came to California, he joined a series of song groups, including the Sons of the Pioneers and later sang with Shep Fields and Tommy Dorsey's bands.

It was the late Les Crutchfield, writer of many Gunsmoke episodes, who coined the name Festus Haggen when Ken joined the series in the fall of 1963 after Dennis Weaver quit.

"I guess I created the character myself when I played a fellow named Monk in a couple of Have Gun episodes. Monk was a skinner who smelled so bad they wouldn't let him stay in the cow camp with the others, and he had the Festus dialect," Ken recalls.

Curtis lived with the dialect so long as a boy, he had no trouble slipping back into it for his Festus role. And the jail in TV's Dodge City is almost like home to Ken. His father was sheriff six years in Las Animas Colo., which is only 150 miles west of Dodge City, Kan.

"We lived in the jail, too, my folks and me, and I can remember my mother standing guard at a steel door with a sawed-off shotgun while I took the prisoners their food. They ate the same as mother cooked for us, so it was mighty good."

Ken is proud of his heritage, and unlike Dennis Weaver who wore a limp around as Chester, he appreciates the fact people think enough of him to call him Festus. Ken and Milburn Stone (Doc of Gunsmoke) formed a song-and-dance act for fairs and rodeos, and Ken played 20 such

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The National League-leading St. Louis Cardinals managed only a split of their Sunday doubleheader with the Atlanta Braves, but held a 6 1/2-game edge over second place San Francisco and 7 1/2 games over the third-place Braves.

The Cardinals lost the opener 5-1. Reliever Cecil Upshaw took over for starter Dick Kelley in the second inning and blanked the Cardinals on two hits the rest of the way.

Second-string catcher John Edwards drove in all the runs in the nightcap as the Cards won 3-1.

Edwards lashed a bases-loaded single in the first inning to give St. Louis a 2-0 lead and tripled in the third inning to score Roger Maris, who had singled with one out.

That was all the runs Mel Nelson needed. Nelson, a left-hander, fired a six-hitter and was touched for one unearned run in the fifth inning as he posted his first major league victory since 1963.

Upshaw (4-4) entered the first game after Orlando Cepeda whacked his 10th homer of the season in the second inning off Kelley. Upshaw worked out of a

Picture Day

Little League team picture day has been announced by Commissioner Don Miller for Saturday.

All teams of the National, American and Musial leagues are to be present at 2 p.m. in uniform.

In case of rain, pictures will be taken the following Saturday.

Lonborg's Comeback

BOSTON AP — Jim Lonborg's hopes for a pitching comeback with the Boston Red Sox were a bit dimmer today as he prepared to undergo X-rays of his sore right shoulder.

The 1967 Cy Young award winner threw five bad pitches—all balls—to lead off Sunday's second game against the Chicago White Sox, hitting two batters, before leaving the mound.

Lonborg complained of pain in the shoulder and the Red Sox decided to send him home for the X-rays.

Ramos 4-1 Underdog

NEW YORK (AP)—Manuel Ramos, a 4-1 underdog, is expected to shoot the works early in a desperate attempt to dethrone five-state heavyweight champion Joe Frazier in a 15-round title fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

"It only takes one punch to turn a fight around," said Gil Clancy. "Ramos can punch pretty good but he better get Frazier quick because the champ keeps coming at you. If Ramos can nail him everyone may be in for a surprise."

Clancy, co-manager and trainer of former middleweight champion Emile Griffith, worked with the tall, 24-year-old Mexican champion for a week. He will be in his corner tonight.

The general opinion of the experts was that the 6-foot-3 Ramos' only chance to win was to get in the big bomb quickly. The unbeaten 24-year-old Frazier has been floored only three times in his career. All in the second round.

Frazier's record is 20-0, including 18 knockouts. Ramos' record is 20-0, including 18 knockouts. Ramos' record is 20-0.

Mike Bruce put him down in the second before he was stopped in the third round. Oscar Bonavena decked Frazier twice in the second round but Frazier came on to win the 10-round decision.

Frazier's record is 20-0, including 18 knockouts. Ramos' record is 20-0, including 18 knockouts. Ramos' record is 20-0.

inings, while the New York Mets edged Los Angeles 5-4 and Houston tripped Philadelphia 7-4 in other single games.

In American League action Detroit bowed to Cleveland 3-0 before beating the Indians 4-1 for a doubleheader split.

Chicago white Sox drubbed Boston 10-1 after a 6-2 first game loss to the Red Sox.

Minnesota downed the New York Yankees 6-3, Oakland blasted Washington 9-0 and California nipped Baltimore 3-2.

McCovey took exception to his own rule in the first inning at Pittsburgh when the first of his two homers off Jim Bunning sailed onto the 86-foot high roof of the double deck right field stands.

"I watched it all the way," he admitted. "I knew it cleared the stands."

But he shrugged off a reminder that the roof had been reached only 12 times before in Forbes Field's 59-year history. "That sounds like quite a lot to me," said Willie.

McCovey's second homer—and third in two games—was a 425-foot blast into the right center field stands that gave Marichal a 2-0 margin in the third.

The Giants' ace blanked the Pirates until the eighth, when Maury Wills singled, extending his hitting streak to 22 games.

Marichal, 14-2, wouldn't discuss his prospects for a 30-victory year.

The Reds completed their sweep on a freakish 11th-inning force play that deprived Tommy Potlatch Forest divided a Saturday baseball doubleheader with Kolly Foods Legion team of Memphis taking a 10-3 opening game victory and then dropping an 11-inning affair, 6-5.

A Sunday single game was postponed.

Tim Halter took the victory for the Foresters in the first game, the 13th for the team. He fanned nine and gave up seven hits.

Potlatch pounded Memphis loser, Gravatt, for 13 hits, including an inside the park home run by Charlie Dye. Wayne Limbaugh led the attack with three hits in four trips to the plate.

The Foresters spotted Memphis four runs in the first inning with lefty Wilson on the mound, before he settled down and held it scoreless until the 11th inning.

Memphis banged out 12 hits while Potlatch collected 13 with Stan Sorrels and Limbaugh leading the Forester barrage with three for six showing.

Gary Owens slapped a double for the only extra base hit in the second game.

Potlatch has a pair of league games this week, the first Wednesday night at VFW stadium with Bertrand. The second also is on home soil, facing Dexter Thursday.

Opposes Vote

SCOTT CITY — Jim Wallace, a democratic candidate for representative in Congress in the 10th district, said he has contacted attorneys in seeking an injunction to halt the straw vote to be undertaken at the Truman day rally in Poplar Bluff July 6.

Wallace says the method being attempted impugns the rights of voters as well as jeopardizing the candidates seeking office and asks all who attend this meeting to refrain from voting, since each will have a legal opportunity to do so in the Aug. 6 primary.

Cigarette Test

Leader Repeats

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new comparison test of cigarettes on the U.S. market by the Federal Trade Commission rates Marvels as the lowest in tar and nicotine content.

The FTC reported Thursday the new tests added 68 brands to 59 for which results were announced last November.

King-size nonfilter Chesterfields had the highest tar content in the earlier test group but an even higher content for king-size nonfilter Herbert Tareyton's showed up in the figures reported Thursday.

Samples of each brand tested, the FTC said, were purchased at locations throughout the nation. Ten cigarettes of each brand were puffed by machine to a butt length of 25 millimeters or, in the case of those with the longest filters and "overwrap" plus three millimeters.

'Average' Lennons Puzzled Over Fan Mag Attacks

By DICK KLEINER
West Coast Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(N.E.A.)—Next to Jackie Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burton, the leading targets for the fan magazines are the Lennon Sisters. Nobody quite knows why.

The four girls are far from being big stars, in the Burton league, or international figures like Mrs. Kennedy. Yet the hunt-and-peek fan mag writers delight in blabbing about them and apparently the readers gobble up every story, true or not.

Perhaps it's because Janet, Diane, Kathy and Peggy are so average. The readers can identify with them easily. The Lennons may be prettier than most young girls, and sing a little better, but at heart they are apple-pie-and-hamburger folks.

In fact, they are reluctant stars. Today, all four girls are married and all but Kathy have children. And they'd like nothing better—they say—than to give up the whole nasty business and retire to a long, happy life of housewifery.

"We don't like the business, really," says Deedee, as Diane is called by her singing siblings. "We like meeting people, but that's about all. We don't like to travel. We don't like being away from our families, we don't like some of the people we have to meet."

"When we go somewhere," says Peggy, "like New York, we just do our jobs, that's all. After the show, we never go sight-seeing or anything. We just go back to the hotel and wait until it's time to call our families back home."

That being the case, they have reached a decision. They're going to work like mad for the next few years, squirrel away enough money for their children's education, then hopefully quit the business and just raise children.

Family life is the big thing for the Lennons. They come—as any fan magazine reader knows—from a huge family. They are the oldest of 12 children of a Venice (a suburb of Los Angeles) milkman. One girl died, but the other 11 are hale, hearty and happy.

"We lived in a two-bedroom house," Deedee says. "So our first aim, when Larry Welk Jr. found us and introduced us to his father, was to make enough money so we could build a dormitory."

Instead, they made enough to buy a whole house, a building which used to be a boarding house. It was still in Venice, on the block where they grew up and where other related Lennons live. It was such a family street that the pavement was almost their private enclave; their father marked off football and racing stripes on the street for their permanent play pleasure.

They still stick close to the hearthside. Three of the four live within a few minutes of that Venice block. Every Sunday, after Mass, they all go over to mom's for waffles. Every Christmas, of course, they gather at the ancestral boarding house—28 of them, at last census.

They believe in large families and hope to have them themselves. Diane already has three, Peggy has three going on four, Janet has one and Kathy, the newest bride, is being watched closely.

"We don't feel," Peggy says, "that the population explosion is anything to worry about here. It may be serious in China or India, but not here. Anyhow, we all want a big family."

"We feel sorry for people who have small families,"

THE LENNON SISTERS are right up there with the Burtons and the Kennedys when it comes to being leading targets for fan magazines. The reason? Nobody seems to know.

Deedee says. "They're missing something. We always had a few more generations and they may take over the world, fun together."

Summer Books Keyed to Election

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Nonfiction will dominate the book publishing scene this summer, with a continuing flow of books about politics, elections and government, keyed to the presidential election year.

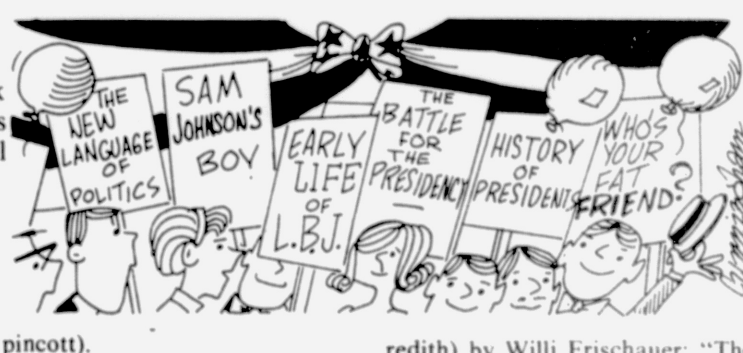

There seems to be a slackening, temporarily at least, in the heavy tide of books related to Vietnam, compiled and edited by James MacGregor Burns, and is titled "World War II keep appearing steadily."

Biographies, autobiographies and memoirs will not be as numerous this summer — but that trend may be reversed in the fall.

With the exception of a few novels by well-known writers, the summer fiction lists are fairly thin. New volumes on politics and government will include these:

In June MacMillan will bring out "Sam Johnson's Boy" by Alfred Steinberg, described as a report on Lyndon B. Johnson's early life and the early part of his career.

McGraw-Hill has speeded up publication of a book, originally planned for August, containing speeches by President Johnson and

Two companion volumes from Simon and Schuster will be "The American Heritage History of the Presidency" and "The American Heritage Pictorial History of the Presidents."

William Safire's "The New Language of Politics" (Random) is subtitled "A Dictionary of Catchwords, Slogans and Political Usage." Sidney Warren's "The Battle for the Presidency" (Lippincott) is concerned with 10 significant campaigns, including that of 1964. James M. Minifie has collected anecdotes about politicians' efforts to create a personal image, under the title of "Who's Your Fat Friend? — Style in Politics" (Lippincott).

Scheduled for July are such items as "What Makes Reagan Run? — A Political Portrait" (McGraw-Hill) by Joseph Lewis, and "A Very Personal Presidency — Lyndon B. Johnson in the White House" (Atheneum) by Hugh Sidney.

In the same month will appear "Fulbright — The Dissenter" (Doubleday) by Haynes Johnson and Bernard M. Gwertzman; "Not Quite So Simple" (Harper) by Sen. Mark O. Hatfield; and "The Brand New Politics" (McGraw-Hill) by Frederick Dutton.

Items about Vietnam will include John J. O'Connor's "A Chaplain Looks at Vietnam" (World Publishing) in June, followed in July by Sen. Vance Hartke's "The American Crisis in Vietnam" (Bobbs-Merrill) and William R. Corson's "The Betrayal" (Norton).

World War II themes will include, in June, "Room 39" (Atheneum) by Donald McLachlan, a study of British Naval Intelligence; "The Fall of Fortress Europe" (Doubleday) by Fred Majdalany, an account from the German point of view; and "A Sinister Twilight — The Fall of Singapore, 1942" (Houghton, Mifflin) by Noel Barber. In July will come "To the War" (Knopf) by Robert Edson Lee, a memoir of a naval reserve officer.

In June the biographical material will include "The Man Who Ran the Subways — The Story of Mike Quill" (Holt, Rinehart) by L.H. Wittemore; the second part of "The Autobiography of Bertrand Russell" (Little, Brown), covering the years 1914-1944; "Onassis — A Biography of the Golden Greek Ship Owner" (Mcredith) by Willi Frischauer; "The Unimportance of Being Oscar" (Putnam) by Oscar Levant; and "This Is My Story, This Is My Song" (Revel) by opera star Jerome Hines. Coming in August will be "The Constant Circle H.L. Mencken and His Friends" (Delacorte) by Sara Mayfield.

Among the nonfiction items being published in June are "World Without Hunger" (Praeger) by Orville L. Freeman, secretary of agriculture, and the story of a great matador, El Cordobes, under the title "Or I'll Dress You in Mourning" (Simon & Schuster) by Larry Collins and Dominique Lapierre, who wrote "Is Paris Burning?"

"The American Challenge" (Atheneum) by J.J. Servan-Schreiber, coming in July, has been a best seller in France. It is described as an account of the economic effects on Western Europe of the expansion of American firms there.

"The Lessons of History" (Simon & Schuster) by Will and Ariel Durant, which will be published in August, is a survey based on the authors' 40 years of work on their 10-volume "The Story of Civilization." Also in August will arrive Vance Packard's "The Bewildered Sexes: The Current Upheaval in Male-Female Relationships" (McKay).

June fiction will include James Baldwin's first novel since 1962, "Tell Me How Long the Train's Been Gone" (Dial), which deals with the life of an American Negro actor; "The Queen's Confession" (Doubleday) by Victoria Holt, who departs from her usual gothic themes to give a fictional version of Marie Antoinette's story; "The Burning Glass" (Little, Brown), a first novel by the playwright and biographer S.N. Behrman; and Brian Moore's "I Am Mary Dunne" (Viking).

Nathaniel Benchley, known for his humorous novels, has taken a serious theme about a girl who is kidnapped by an escapee from a mental institution in "Welcome to Xanadu" (Atheneum), which will be among July's novels.

August fiction will include Norman Rosten's "Under the Boardwalk" (Prentice-Hall), a story of a boy in a boarding house near Cape Island, and Elliott Baker's Emancipated Women Free To Wear What?

JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Emancipated women are indecisive about their identity and so is fashion.

Some think that achieving equal rights arbitrarily entitles them to the ties, jackets, caps and trousers, as well as the very shirts off men's backs. You would think that the right to a man's wardrobe was what suffrage was all about.

Still other women are smarter than that. They know they can go places faster and more comfortably by simulating the kind of femininity that many men equate with helplessness. Who are they to give up ruffles and frills for the mere sake of equality when they can enslave men by their deceptive fragility?

Is it any wonder that fashion designers have not known which road to take? As a consequence the style pendulum is swinging back and forth with the speed of a cuckoo clock, from man-tailored to woman-fashioned in the extreme.

What women really want is equal economic rights and lopsided (in their favor) social rights, so some critics say. They want men to give them the right to compete for their jobs as well as their seat on the bus.

Recently fashion also has arrived at this interesting compromise. Designers have chosen the best of both situations and combined them into styles, thus having twice as many things going for them.

Take a man's night shirt for instance. Women had been taking them whenever they could get their hands on them. Though generously cut, comfortable and practical, they were hardly the most feminine attire a woman could wear in retirement.

So what did an enterprising designer do? He added ruffles, yards and yards of them at cuffs, at the neckline and down the middle until these night shirts were decidedly ladylike.

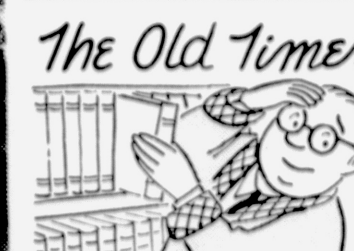

More proof is the man's bathrobe. Women have asked for equal wearing privileges here, too, and the answer has been a feminization of the garment. More than three years ago the furriers wrapped it up in sable skins and made a status symbol of it by putting it on the backs of socialites.

SLEEPER SHIRT — The night shirt has been feminized by crisp ruffles at the cuff and neckline, forming an Edwardian jabot effect in front. Made from caprolan nylon tricot, the shirt was created by Miss Elaine.

Today the men's bathrobe style is democratically available to all women. Ruffled or unruffled, in silks and voiles, and warm wools, the man's bathrobe is now a popular dress style.

"Perhaps your clear conscience is nothing more than a poor memory."

PUBLIC NOTICE

IN THE MAGISTRATE COURT OF SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI
MELVIN TIDWELL, d/b/a
Tidwell Gulf Service,

Plaintiff,

Vs.
BANK OF ST. LOUIS, a corporation, and
CHARLES CROOK,
Defendants.
Case No. S-Civ. 1798
NOTICE OF ENFORCEMENT
OF LIEN

TO CHARLES CROOK AND HIS SUCCESSORS IN INTEREST:

Please take notice that on April 23, 1968, Statement of Lien was filed in the Magistrate Court of Scott County, Missouri, in which it was alleged that:

1. Plaintiff is a resident of Scott County, Missouri, and at all times herein material operated a gas station and automobile repair and storage service at 621 North Main, Sikeston, Missouri.

2. On or about April 15, 1967, one 1963 Plymouth sports fury automobile, serial number 3431138688, was brought into plaintiff's place of business by defendant Crook, and at said defendant's request, plaintiff performed certain mechanical operations on said vehicle in the amount of $32.40. Said vehicle has been in storage at plaintiff's place of business since said date, and a reasonable charge therefor is One Dollar ($1.00) per day.

3. Plaintiff's total reasonable charges for said work and storage are $397.40, none of which has been paid by defendant. Plaintiff has demanded of both defendants that said repair bill and storage charge be paid, but they have failed and refused to do so.

4. Plaintiff states that by virtue of Sections 430.020 and 430.160 R.S.Mo. (1959), he has a lien on said vehicle and is entitled to enforcement of same as by law provided.

5. Plaintiff is of the belief that defendant Bank of St. Louis also claims a lien on said vehicle, and therefore plaintiff joins said defendant in this action.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays the Court to enter its order that said lien be so enforced.

That on June 19, 1968, the Court entered its order finding that said defendant is not a resident of this County and entered its order directing that the herein notice be published.

Please be further notified that on Tuesday, July 2, 1968, plaintiff will, in the Magistrate Court of Scott County, Missouri, at Sikeston, Missouri, seek judgment herein and request the Court to order the aforesaid property sold to satisfy the aforesaid lien.

Democratic Editors Elect Blanton

JEFFERSON CITY — Carter Blanton, co-publisher of the Shelbina Democrat, was elected president of the Missouri Democratic Editors of Missouri. He served as vice president last year.

Blanton succeeds Porter Fisher of the New London Press as head of the organization. Other officers elected were Don Kirkpatrick of the Windsor Review, vice president; Mrs. Robert Bowling of the Montgomery City Standard, secretary; Orville Trigg of the Oak Grove Missouri Banner, treasurer.

inauguration of a governor. Still, a special session causes special problems. The Chamber of Commerce did not know of the session in time to plan their convention schedule around it.

Other business groups will get a boost, also. Restaurants, barber shops, service stations, laundries and others will find extra business.

Obviously, Jefferson City's business community will benefit from the session. How much the legislators will spend is not known, but past experience has shown conventioners in the capital city spend an average of about $30 a day. And, the labor force in Jefferson City will get a boost with the special session as many legislators hire part time secretaries and typists (usually housewives) during their stay.

OSAGE RIVER FLOODS MAKING FARMERS MAD
Farmers in Miller Cole and Osage counties are continuing to voice complaints about floods on the Osage River.

The problem, they say, is with poor timing of releasing water from the Lake of the Ozarks through Bagnell Dam.

Andrew H. Diercks, secretary of the Osage River Flood Assn. points out that flooding has been going on since the 1930s, after the dam was completed in 1931. Rather than helping to control floods, Diercks says, the dam has caused worse floods.

The farmers have been fighting the problem since the beginning. In 1947 a new ruling by the Federal Power Commission required the lake to be kept three feet below normal pool during the months of March, April and May (planting season). The farmers want this period extended through the growing season.

In 1956 they took their problem to the U.S. Senate. The Senate ordered an immediate investigation by the Army Corps of Engineers. Diercks says: "We took it to the Senate and there it will stay until it is disposed of."

Now, 12 years later, the investigation has begun. Col. William G. Kratz, Kansas City district engineer, said the delay was caused by lack of funds. It was not until last year that Congress appropriated $22,000 for the investigation. The first step was a public hearing held in Eldon May 8th. Interested citizens suggested better coordination in the release of the water from the dam, opening up a lock and dam on the Osage to make navigation possible and construct levees. It is hoped that water help control the water about lake, especially Kaysinger Dam, will help control the water.

Union Electric Co. is licensed to control the dam, but takes its orders from the Federal Power Commission. Farmers have never received any monetary assistance for flood damage which has occurred.

Ann Landers

Woman Needs Ironing Lesson

Dear Ann Landers: I feel like a moron. I'm sure nobody has ever written to you about this problem because I am probably the only one in the country who is dumb enough to ask it. I am the world's loudest ironer.

My husband has been very nice about it. His shirts always look terrible and I am ashamed of myself. No matter how hard I try I can't do better. I've scorched so many collars I decided it would be better to have the iron too cold than too hot. So now his shirts look as if they have not been ironed at all.

Our daughters are growing up and I want their blouses and dresses to look fresh and crisp like the little girls they play with, but I just can't manage it. I am getting an inferiority complex. It's awful to admit I'm too stupid to iron halfway decently when millions of women are able to do it. Can you help? --WRINKLED IN WHITTIER

Dear Wrink: To be a good ironer does not take brains. It takes know-how, practice and patience. Go to a friend or neighbor whose ironing you admire. Ask her to let you watch her wash and iron. See what she puts in the wash water. Several products on the market make ironing easier. Bring your own iron along on the second visit and iron alongside her. After the third of fourth session you should be well on your way.

In exchange for the lessons $19.50 yet, is revolting. This you can buy her an appropriate gift or bring over a standing rib roast, a casserole of escalloped potatoes and a cherry pie.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like your opinion of a newspaper ad that made me furious. Please tell me if you think I am a sourpuss and a killjoy.

The ad says, "Don't just GO STEADY-go PRE-ENGAGED. Buy this 14 kt. gold diamond pre-engagement ring for only $19.50."

We have three daughters, two in their teens. I am trying to give my girls few basic facts on married love. wholesome values. It's hard enough to keep teen-agers in line these days, with sex screaming at us from the billboards, the get us from becoming wildly suggestive and every other What To Expect." Send your teen-ager driving a car of his request to Ann Landers in care of. And now we have ads of urging kids to get pre-engaged! How hungry can a merchant get?

Please reply in the paper and I will watch with interest to see if the same paper that printed the ad will have the nerve to print my letter and your comments. --- ENRAGED MOTHER

Dear Mother: The suggestion that teen-agers should get pre-engaged (whatever that means), with a 14 kt. gold for $19.50 yet, is revolting. This crass attempt to drag a few bucks out of some dumb kids by suggesting that they "play house" is rock-bottom in my book.

Confidential to Frightened, Ashamed and Can't Go On This Way: Your letter indicates that you do not know what homosexuality is. Every week I receive at least a dozen letters from women who display the same kind of ignorance. Have a talk with your family doctor. I hope he will give you some help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this print my letter and your comments. --- ENRAGED MOTHER

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this print my letter and your comments. --- ENRAGED MOTHER

If You Were the Judge

Girl's Behavior Breaks Her Movie Contract

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Curvaceous Clara was closer to a motion picture producer than was his toupee. Hoping to break into the movie and to become a star, she accompanied him where ever he went. Ultimately, however, her friend the producer gave her the air. The result? She made her own scene in court. She sued the producer for breach of contract.

"He promised me a movie career," she told the judge, "if I acted like a daughter to him. The fact is, I did even more. I permitted him to make love to me for over a year. The closest I ever got to a camera, however, was when he took pictures of me at a penny arcade; five for a quarter. He should be made to pay me for not keeping his end of our bargain."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the producer pay for not producing?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that Clara herself had not abided by the terms of the alleged agreement. That by permitting the producer to make love to her, she had not acted like his daughter.

Today In U.S. History

Today is Monday, June 24, the 176th day of 1968. There are 190 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1948, the Soviet Union blockaded all land traffic between Berlin and West Germany. The next day American and British planes began to supply the city in a gigantic airlift.

On this date: In 1492, Christopher Columbus sent five shipsload of Indians from Isabela, Hispaniola to Spain to be sold as slaves.

In 1520, the Spanish conqueror, Hernando Cortez, entered Mexico City.

In 1793, the first Republican constitution in France was adopted.

In 1940, the French government of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain signed a World War II armistice with Italy.

In 1942, the exiled royal family of the Netherlands arrived in the United States to establish temporary residence.

In 1948, the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia named New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as the GOP presidential candidate.

Ten years ago—A volcano in southern Japan, Mt. Aso erupted, killing 12 persons.

Five years ago—Pope Paul VI said his reign would be dedicated to preserving and consolidating peace.

One year ago—Soviet Premier Alexi Kosygin was sightseeing at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Sarah Halbert, Dexter, Dies

DEXTER—Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Halbert, 82, died Sunday in the Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston. She was born June 14, 1886, in Byrdstown, Tenn., daughter of John and Rebecca Godsey Knight.

A member of the Church of Christ, Mrs. Halbert had lived in Dexter since 1925. She married Henry Halbert, who died in 1923.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Ruby McMunn of Dexter; one grandson, Michael McMunn of Dexter; one brother, George Allen Knight of Monroe, Tenn.; and three sisters, Mrs. Cora Hill of Hammersville, Ohio, Mrs. Minnie Hill of Lyons, Kan., and Mrs. Bertha Kiesling of Byrdstown.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Watkins and Sons Funeral Chapel with Melvin Elliott, Church of Christ minister, officiating.

Burial will be in the Smith-Stevenson cemetery near Dexter.

Mississippi Flood About Due in Cycle

CAPE GIRARDEAU—Despite a levee system that is unsurpassed in all history and a series of dams and small water conservancy pools throughout the river valleys, there is no complacency within the corps of engineers about future Mississippi river floods.

Col. Edwin R. Decker St. Louis District engineer, chatting on a barge trip to Trail of Tears State Park, mused over it.

"We're long overdue for a major flood threat" he said. They come in five-year cycles and the last we had was in 1957."

It was recalled that the engineers almost every spring

Two Injured In Accidents Near Dorena

CHARLESTON - Two Choate Farm workers were injured in separate accidents on the farm, located near Dorena. Both accidents involved overturning of farm vehicles.

Most seriously injured was Steve Ledbetter, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ledbetter.

According to Mrs. Ledbetter, Steve was putting down fertilizer with a tractor-fertilizer rig Saturday about 11:30 a.m. and the tractor started to overturn into a ditch.

Ledbetter jumped clear as the tractor fell into the water but his left leg was run over by one of the tractor tires.

He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Cairo, where X-rays disclosed no broken bones. Ligaments in the leg were pulled, however, and the youth is in a cast from hip to ankle. He is expected to be released from the hospital by the end of the week.

Ledbetter also suffered burns scrapes and cuts in the accident.

In a similar accident Monday about noon, James Pollock, teenage son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pollock, overturned a highboy he was driving and suffered a broken wrist.

Weed Control Tour July 1

PORTAGEVILLE — A public tour of the weed control research plots at the Delta Center will be held July 1 from 9 a.m. to noon according to Joe Scott, extension agronomist.

Results of pre and post-emergence weed control treatments will be observed on cotton, soybeans and corn.

This will include the use of herbicides as preplant treatments with different methods of application; pre-emergence herbicides and as double treatments; single and combinations of herbicides as post-emergence treatments.

The Delta Center Research farm is six miles east of Portageville.

Construction on Route C Resumes

CAPE GIRARDEAU—The state highway department has urged motorists using route C in Stoddard County between advance and Arab, to use caution during construction, which has been resumed.

Ale C. Cato, resident engineer, noted work started again this week after being shut down during a strike for several weeks.

He said route C will be open to traffic at all times, but portions of the roadway will have to be constructed while traffic moves and will require care by motorists.

Warning and information signs notify motorists of the dangers.

No Fireworks Can Be Fired in East Prairie

EAST PRAIRIE - Chief of Police Jake Abner has stressed again the city ordinance prohibiting the firing of fireworks within the city limits. Persons caught firing fireworks are subject to a $25 fine.

Fireworks of type "C" may be sold within the city limits but cannot be discharged, violators will be fined.

What gets under Chevrolet's skin?

Beneath Chevrolet's thick skin (double-walled in most places) lies a truck chassis built for punishment. A heavy-gauge steel frame provides the solid backbone for this inner strength. While a host of durable driveline components supply the muscle. Enough to whip most any job.

Of course, the heart of all this brawn is a Chevrolet engine. Six or V8, all are built for stamina. They last longer because of such things as induction-hardened crankshaft journals. Inexpensive to operate, too. All run on regular gasoline.

Keeping everything riding smoothly is the job of Chevy's famed independent front suspension. And what a job it does! Combined with tough coil springs, front and rear, this suspension system cushions the entire truck from jarring road shock.

So you see, beautiful engineering is more than skin deep on Chevrolet.

Only the toughest truck components in the business!
